Spring Signals Snarled?

THE CALENDAR says spring arrives officially today, March 20, at 4:17 p.m., but the weatherman apparently didn't get the word. Mrs. Harold Scheitler Jr. of 327 S. State St. was bundled up in a winter coat and blowing on her hands to get warm this morning when the mercury registered in the low 30s. Light snow flurries accompanied the cool temperatures as spring entered the scene. However, the outlook for the near future is bright with some warmer weather forecast for Thursday.

Temperatures ranged throughout Ohio from 29 to 38 degrees and light snow flurries were reported over the greater portion of the state. Clearing but cool is the forecast for tonight with a low of 28 and Thursday's high will be 50.

High temperature recorded at the local weather station Tuesday was 55 but last night the mercury dropped below freezing to 30 degrees. A year ago, the weather was even colder when the high was 35 and the mercury dropped to a low of 12.

Teamsters' Boss Faces 3 p.m. Deadline

Probers Prepared To Subpena Beck's Records; Hoffa Indicted

Conspiracy And Bribery Are Charged

Jury's Prompt Action Praised by McClellan; Union Official Silent

WASHINGTON (AP) — James R. (Jimmy) Hoffa, bouncy little bigshot of the Teamsters Union, today faced an indictment accusing him of conspiring and bribing to get secrets of the Senate's racket probers.

Named codefendant with the 44-year-old Hoffa is Hyman I. Fischbach, Miami attorney who in the past has served as counsel to congressional investigating committees.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) of the special Senate committee probing labor union activities said he was gratified at the prompt indictment. He expressed the hope Hoffa and Fischbach will be tried "at an early date."

Denies Complicity

Fischbach said in Miami that "when I am tried, I shall be exonerated." He said he had been retained by Hoffa "but not for anything even remotely connected with the accusation."

Hoffa himself rested on his statement after his arrest a week ago tonight in which he vowed he was innocent of wrongdoing and said he will "fight this case until I am cleared."

The three-count indictment against Hoffa and Fischbach was returned late Tuesday before Federal Dist. Judge Richmond B. Keech. No date was set for the defendants to answer.

Charges Listed

In brief, here are the charges, with maximum penalties if convicted:

1. Conspiracy to bribe, conspiracy to obstruct operations of the McClelland committee, and conspiracy to defraud the United States "of and concerning its legislative and governmental functions and rights;" five years in prison, a $10,000 fine, or both.

2. Bribery by giving John Cye Cheasty, a member of the committee staff, $2,000 "to influence and induce him to divulge" committee secrets and to turn over documents, papers and memoranda from its files; three years plus three times the amount of the bribe. The FBI says Cheasty reported the alleged bribe and cooperated fully in the investigation leading to Hoffa's arrest.

3. Obstructing and impeding the committee's "due and proper exercise of the power of inquiry;" five years, a $5,000 fine, or both.

Residence Damaged in Fire

SMOKE MIXED WITH SEARING FLAMES caused an estimated loss of $4,000 to this residence of William O. Robertson Jr. at 231 W. Fairground St. this morning. The blaze was discovered shortly after 8 a.m. by Mrs. Robertson, the robed figure in the center of the picture, about to re-enter the house after carrying a few items of valuable furniture out. Cause of the fire was an overheated furnace in the basement.

Brewster Is Recalled for Questioning

Tells of Donation to Election Campaign of California Governor

WASHINGTON (AP)—Frank Brewster testified today the Teamsters Union made a campaign contribution to Gov. Goodwin J. Knight of California, and later interceded with Knight to get Charles Tait of Seattle, appointed as San Francisco's port director. The amount of the contribution was not immediately brought out.

The testimony came in the third straight day on the witness stand for Brewster, the Western Teamsters boss.

Robert Kennedy, committee counsel, asked whether Brewster had spoken with Gov. Knight about a job for Tait in San Francisco.

Discussed Qualifications

"I believe I might have written a letter, I'm not sure," Brewster said. "I may have talked with him. I believe we discussed his qualifications."

Brewster added then that the Teamsters Union had made a political contribution to Knight.

As today's hearings proceeded, time was running out on the committee's demand that President Dave Beck of the teamsters furnish it with his personal financial records.

After Brewster's testimony about Tait's appointment, Kennedy asked about appointment of Harold Lopez to the California Board of Harbor Commissioners. Lopez was identified as business manager of Teamsters Local No. 35.

Appointed by Knight

Brewster said he knew Lopez had been appointed by Knight.

Brewster said Tait was originally from San Francisco but engaged in business activities in Seattle for about 20 years, before returning to San Francisco to become port director.

Brewster's headquarters as chairman of the 11-state Western Conference of Teamsters are in Seattle.

Ready With Subpena

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said the special Senate committee investigating alleged labor-industry racketeering was ready to slap a subpena on Beck for his financial data unless he turns them over voluntarily.

McClellan twice has requested the material and fixed 3 p.m., EST, as a deadline for an answer one way or the other. Beck, who was traveling in Europe until two weeks ago, promised a reply after he could talk with his attorneys, including former Sen. James Duff (R-Pa).

A third top official of the 1½-million-member Teamsters Union, James R. Hoffa, was indicted by

Dag Seeking Conference With Nasser

U.N. Secretary Flies To Cairo for Parleys On Gaza Strip, Aqaba

CAIRO (AP) — U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold headed for Cairo today to confer with Egyptian leaders on the future of Gaza, the Gulf of Aqaba, the Suez Canal and other issues threatening a new Middle East war.

Leaving New York by plane Tuesday night, Hammarskjold predicted "we may be able to establish a situation in Gaza that will give all parties satisfaction, including Israel."

The secretary general said he will see Egypt's President Nasser when he reaches Cairo Thursday but added he did not know whether he would visit Israel.

May Cover 'Other Ground'

Hammarskjold said his talks in Cairo would deal with U. N. responsibility for clearing the Suez Canal, future activities of the U.N. Emergency Force (UNEF) and perhaps "cover other ground."

His parting statement came on the heels of Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir's warning that Israel "cannot agree to a belligerent Egypt coming back to Gaza," and Premier David Ben-Gurion's in an interview that Israel would fight again if Nasser "tries to block our historic and legal passage" through the Gulf of Aqaba.

Assures Bunche

The UNEF units which moved into Gaza after Israel pulled out are being prodded by Egypt into gradually yielding up their holdings in the strip's towns for positions on the Gaza-Israeli frontier.

Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi was reported, however, to have assured U.N. Undersecretary Ralph Bunche that Egypt has no intention of sending Egyptian troops into the Gaza Strip immediately.

Stage Set for Talks

Bermuda Unrolls Red Carpet for Ike

TUCKER'S TOWN, Bermuda (AP) — President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan were to meet on this Atlantic island today to try to restore British - American cooperation in the Middle East.

Macmillan during the four-day conference was expected to urge the strongest possible U.S. support of Israeli security interests in the Gaza Strip and shipping rights through the Gulf of Aqaba and the Suez Canal.

The British are reported to feel that the U. S. government, having prevailed on Israel to withdraw its troops, is honor bound to support Israel actively in the present stage of the contest with Egypt.

Diplomats said top priority in the talks had to go to the most urgent aspects of the Middle East crisis involving Israel and Egypt.

Macmillan was expected to ask the President to exert more vigorous and determined American leadership. The British are reported to feel that American policy has been lacking in decisiveness and depended too heavily on the United Nations.

To Restore Understanding

Before leaving London Macmillan made it clear his prime purpose will be to restore understanding and friendship with the United States.

"This is one occasion when the British will be quite frank and I feel sure the Americans will be quite frank about what they feel," he said, adding he was confident "a great deal will be gained" from a frank exchange.

A military reception, complete with the precision-trained honor guard of the Duke of Cornwall's Light Infantry, was well rehearsed for Eisenhower's arrival. But Bermuda officials said a prospect of wet weather would result in cancellation of outdoor ceremonies and substitution of a simple indoor welcome by Macmillan and Lt. Gen. Sir John Woodall, governor of the British colony.

No one wanted to risk a relapse in Eisenhower's throat condition by causing him to stand outside in the rain for 20 minutes.

Dulles Due by Air

Secretary of State Dulles was scheduled to arrive by air.

The formal talks between Eisenhower, Macmillan and their advisers will begin Thursday in the drawing room of Bermuda's exclusive Mid-Ocean Club, where all four of the top men at the harmony conference are staying. It seemed certain, however, that informal discussions would start tonight.

Problems to be taken up range over the world, but the Middle East holds priority. It was over that strategic, turbulent region that the United States split with Britain and France last November because of their attack on Egypt. And it is there that the greatest dangers to peace exist today.

Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, in an interview published Thursday said his army would march again if Egypt tried to block Israel's "historic and legal passage" of Israeli shipping through the Gulf of Aqaba. British diplomats speculate Israel also will retaliate with force if border raids are resumed from the Gaza Strip, which Egypt is now taking over from U.N. forces.

Sound Trucks Will 'Talk Up' Pool Pledges

With only 11 days to go before the deadline and $163,000 in pledges still needed to pay for a community swimming pool in Marion, the Junior Chamber of Commerce is going to "talk up" the pledge campaign beginning tonight.

From 5 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. tonight, Thursday and Friday the JayCee's sound truck will tour city streets with loudspeaker appeals for residents to get their pledge cards in the mail.

At the same times, another public address system mounted on an automobile will tour the county areas, villages and towns with similar appeals.

T. L. Hufert of the fund raising committee of the Marion Community Swimming Pool, Inc., said that there has been no substantial change from Tuesday in the total amount pledged for the pool.

It was reported yesterday that total pledges so far have reached about $10,000 toward the $173,000 goal. Deadline for the pledges is April 1.

The pledges will be called in only if the total is large enough to assure construction of the pool.

Of the pledges received so far, reports are that the average is

Sewer Work To Be Started By Tiffin Firm

First Project in City's Long-Range Program Will Begin Thursday

Construction work on the first project of a proposed long-range, 12-million dollar sewer improvement program in Marion is slated to start Thursday morning.

Safety-Service Director R. Guy Bigelow said today that the Tiffin Excavating Contractors, Inc., the low bidder on the 10-inch sanitary relief sewer on Forest Lawn Blvd. from Indiana Ave. north to E. Center St., will start work tomorrow.

Others Scheduled

And beginning the first of next week, two other contractors will start work on the other portions of the Indiana Ave.-Forest Lawn Blvd. project, he said.

R. H. McManus and Co. of Detroit will construct the Indiana Ave. trunk sewer and Frank Verderber, Inc. of Toledo will construct the Forest Lawn Blvd. trunk from Indiana Ave. south to Mt. Vernon Ave. Total of the three low bids was $499,452.

Mr. Bigelow said today, "All of the contractors have assured me they will complete their contracts by the specified completion dates."

This indicates all three sewers will be completed before Sept. 7 which is the completion date for the Forest Lawn Blvd. trunk sewer.

Applications Received

Mr. Bigelow said also that he now has several applications for the two newly created positions of sewer inspector and expects to appoint two persons to fill the positions sometime next week.

Both the sewer inspector positions and the new position of city sanitary engineer will become effective April 1. Mr. Bigelow already has employed the sanitary engineer. He is T. A. Klingler of 323 S. Vine St.

Loss Set at $4,000; Blaze Battled 45 Minutes

An overheated furnace at the home of William O. Robertson Jr. of 231 W. Fairground St. was the cause of a fire which broke out early this morning, doing an estimated $4,000 damage.

Firemen received the call at 8:14 a.m. and upon arriving at the residence found smoke and flames shooting up from the roof. A squad of 12 men from the Central and Mark St. stations, the latter with the township truck, broke into the attic window with the hose line and had the blaze under control in 45 minutes, Chief Owen A. Sifritt said.

MRS. ROBERTSON first discovered the fire when smoke began seeping through the floor to the upstairs where she had just gotten out of bed. She immediately attempted to call the fire department, but was hampered by a busy line.

Next she ran in a bathrobe and her night clothes to the home of a neighbor who succeeded in contacting the fire department.

The blaze which originated in the basement spread through wall partitions and under the floors to the attic and roof.

Chief Sifritt indicated that the firemen were hampered in fighting the blaze by a strong wind which fanned the flames. Holes

Suspect Held In Columbus Girl's Slaying

Police in Capital Say Painter Denies Link To Murdered Woman

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Authorities here are investigating a man they say may be linked to the death of an unidentified woman whose body was found in Big Darby Creek Saturday.

The man, a 51-year-old painter from suburban Amvet Village, was arrested Tuesday after the Franklin County sheriff's office received a telephone tip.

Former Area Resident

Sheriff's Lt. Ellsworth Beck said the man once lived in nearby Darbydale where the woman's strangled, partly clad body was found by four youths. Dr. Carl Tetrick, acting county coroner, ruled that the woman, believed to be in her late teens or early twenties, died by strangulation.

Officers said they found a piece of rope in the man's house apparently similar to the rope used in choking the woman. They said they also found possible blood stains on the man's 1947 automobile.

The man, officers said, denied knowing anything about the murder.

Await Blood Analysis

Authorities are awaiting a blood analysis they hope will lead to the woman's identity. The blood was discovered in a secluded driveway about one mile west of the spot where the body was discovered.

Other leads have failed to establish the woman's identity, officers said. The FBI reported Tuesday it has no record of her fingerprints, and a Columbus dental technician who said he made the woman's dental plate, told police he has found nothing so far in his records to identify her.

School Heads Meet

Student Survey Planned On Marion OSU Branch

At a preliminary meeting with 11 area school officials here this morning, plans were formed to conduct a survey among 2,000 graduating high school students in the Marion area to ascertain definite interest in attending a branch of Ohio State University, should it be formed here, Robert S. Brown, public schools superintendent and chairman of the local survey, reported.

Within the next week all eligible students throughout the district will be contacted through school assemblies and handed interest forms to be returned by March 29, Mr. Brown said.

The local superintendent will address senior groups here and in Mount Gilead. Harding seniors will meet at 8:45 a.m. Monday in the auditorium there while all county seniors will be transported to Harding for a meeting at 1:30 p.m. that afternoon. The date for a St. Mary senior meeting has not yet been indicated.

The session in Mount Gilead will encompass students from all Morrow County schools as well as Mount Gilead High School. It will be held in the Mount Gilead High School auditorium.

Among the other school areas which will conduct surveys are Kenton, Marysville, Galion, Upper Sandusky, Bucyrus, Crawford County and Hardin County.

Mr. Brown said that unless at least 300 students express interest in enrolling in the proposed branch school, Marion will not be considered as a likely site.

The proposed branch would operate on a quarterly basis during the hours of 4-10 p.m. at Harding High School. Cost of enrolling in the program to the student would be approximately $450 per year

Senators Cautious

Some Hope for Mideast Settlement Is Promised

WASHINGTON (AP) — Egypt's new proposals for operation of the Suez Canal led to cautious forecasts among some senators today that the way may be opening toward a settlement of the Middle East crisis.

But they added that Egypt must show good faith in working to solve other problems in the area.

First reaction from the State Department was that the Egyptian plan for running the waterway fell short of being satisfactory.

Possible Basis for Accord

While this view was shared by some members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Senators Humphrey (D-Minn), Mansfield (D-Mont) and Sparkman (D-Ala) said they feel the proposals of President Gamal Abdel Nasser offer some hope as a possible basis of settlement.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa), another foreign relations committeeman, said he regards the Egyptian plan as "unsatisfactory." But he added that it ought to be "explored very thoroughly" by this government.

Egypt's Proposal

In a 250-word memorandum, the Egyptian government said it will respect "the letter and spirit" of the 1888 agreement opening the canal to international traffic. Nothing was said of Israel, but Egypt has contended that Israel is an enemy nation and not eligible under the 1888 agreement.

The memorandum called for collection of tolls by Egypt or its agent, diversion of some of the money to a canal improvement fund association and arbitration of claims growing out of national-

Rotary Hears Official

New Research in Metals Described in Club Talk

Research pointed at improving fabricating techniques for metals with a high melting point was described for the Marion Rotary Club Tuesday noon at Hotel Harding.

Howard Blank, a research associate of Universal - Cyclops Steel Corp. at Bridgeville, Pa., spoke in place of P. C. Rossin, manager of Pilot Plants, Universal - Cyclops Steel Corp., who was unable to attend.

Mr. Blank's talk was concerned mainly with a "plant within a plant" being set up by his company for improving the fabrication of molybdenum and similar metals.

BETTER FABRICATION methods are being sought due to the use of such metals in supersonic aircraft, guided missiles and other modern scientific fields.

Molybdenum is difficult to work at very high temperatures because of the need for correct atmospheric conditions. The pilot plant being planned by Universal-Cyclops will attempt to set up those conditions.

The air purification system alone will cost more than $400,000 for a room, to be built within a present plant, which will be 82 feet long, 40 feet wide and 25 feet high. Equipment in the room will include a complete rolling mill.

Workmen will wear "space suits" which will have a number of safety devices, including a light on the suit which will burn as long as the air supply is right, and a complete communications unit in the helmet.

MR. BLANK was introduced by Theodore Hufert, program chairman for March.

E. E. Emerson of the Marion Toastmaster's Club spoke in behalf of the swimming pool pledge campaign.

Guests were introduced by Rodney Cox.

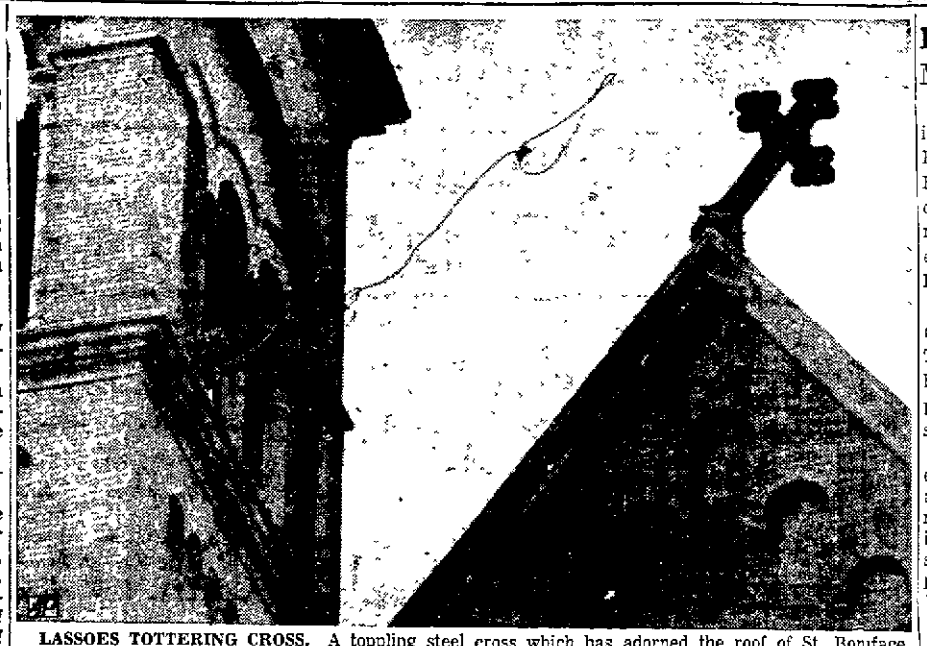
Visiting Rotarians were George M. Evans of Columbus and Jasper Burt, a member of the LaPorte, Ind., club now residing in Marion.

Guests included Robert B. Snider of Wooster, Joe Maynor of Mansfield, Charles H. Anderson of Bellefontaine, Charles Truxall of Columbus, Tom L. Terrall, George K Smith, Mr. Emerson, James Alaback and Gene Poling, all of Marion.

Faces Cruelty Charge

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP) — Mrs. Elizabeth Janks, 53, of Leroy Township, is in Lake County jail in lieu of $500 bond on a charge of cruelty to animals. She pleaded innocent Tuesday in Painesville Municipal Court.

F. D. Rust, county humane officer, said Mrs. Janks failed to properly feed and water 10 head of cattle on her farm and that two of the animals had died of malnutrition.



LASSOES TOTTERING CROSS. A toppling steel cross which has adorned the roof of St. Boniface Roman Catholic Church for 50 years is the target of a lariat tossed by custodian Beno Sylvie as high winds threatened to knock the cross to the street, 50 feet below, in Chicago. Sylvie ascended the belfry, roped the cross and held it secure until repairs could be made.

Tiffin Youths Are Given Probation for Car Theft

BUCYRUS — Two Tiffin youths, who admitted stealing an auto belonging to Stanford L. Kemery of Bucyrus have been placed on probation following a hearing here before Crawford County Juvenile Judge Constance R. Keller.

The youths, 16 and 17, were released to the custody of their parents and are to report regularly to the Seneca County probation officer at Tiffin, where the cases have been transferred.

The pair also admitted stealing a sports car, belonging to the Tiffin Motors, Inc., from the home of Howard Kerschner of Tiffin, an employe of the firm, Judge Keller reported. The Tiffin car was abandoned near Melmore after it ran out of gasoline. No charges were filed in connection with the auto theft in Tiffin, Judge Keller said.

Emigration from Denmark increased considerably during the past year, mostly to Canada, Australia and New Zealand.

Pre-School Clinic Set At Elm Valley Schools

ASHLEY—The annual pre-school clinic for the Elm Valley Schools will be held Friday, March 22. The clinic will be held at 9 a.m. in Ashley School and at 1 p.m. in the Kilbourne School.

A child is eligible to attend if he will be 6 on or before Oct. 31, 1957. The clinic will be held in the music rooms and members of the Delaware Health Department will conduct it.

Rev. Wiley To Deliver Message at Services

Speaker tonight for the preaching mission service at Forest Lawn Presbyterian Church will be Rev. Ralph Wiley from First Church of the Brethren. It will be church night. Good attendance and interest is reported by the pastor, Rev. Floyd E. Kline.

A large group of women of the congregation attended in a body Tuesday night. Rev. Louis Campbell from Delaware was the preacher. The combined choirs sang.

Rev. Arthur Geyh of Mount Gilead will be heard Thursday night and it will be young people's night. Purpose of the nightly services this week is "deepening of the spiritual life of the church," the pastor said.

Local Builders See Movie by Electric Group

Members of the Marion Building Associates were shown a movie Tuesday night by officials of the Ohio Edison Co. The movie was a year-end report of the 1956 "Live Better Electrically" sales promotion carried on by the electric industry.

Emmett O. Williams, president of the builders' group, presided for the dinner meeting at Lee's Steak House south of Marion. About 70 members and guests were present.

Local officials of the Ohio Edison Co. who were present for the meeting included Harold Grigsby, local division manager; Ray Semmler, Leroy Clauer and George Schwab.

The movie starred John Daly and Giselle MacKenzie. It reviewed the sales promotional techniques used last year and gave a preview of the plans for 1957.

In a business meeting, Mr. Williams reported the trustees of the organization had donated $100 from the group's treasury to help promote the local swimming pool campaign. A motion to spend another $50 for advertising of the campaign, if needed, was defeated and the group tabled a motion to contribute the $50 directly to the pool fund.

In another move the builders voted to reduce the size of the membership committee from 10 to five and to authorize the committee to pass on new members without a vote of the entire organization.

Mr. Williams appointed Robert Middleton, Richard Langdon, George Scantland and Walter Larson as the nominating committee for the election of officers to be held in the near future.

BACK FROM POLE. Rear Admiral George J. Dufek, 54, the first American to stand at the point that marks the bottom of the world, arrives in San Francisco from the South Pole. The commander of "Operation Deepfreeze" is en route to Washington to report the completion of his mission. He established seven Antarctic bases for scientists and his military associates.

Crawford Dog Warden Will Get Ranch Wagon

BUCYRUS—A 1957 ranch wagon was purchased here Tuesday by Crawford County Commissioners for use by Dog Warden Howard Miller of Crestline.

The vehicle is being purchased from Crestline Motor Sales on its bid of $1,638, including a trade-in allowance on a 1953 business coupe now used by the dog warden.

Commissioners said the ranch wagon is best adapted for the needs of the dog warden.

County Band Program Slated at Wyandot Fair

UPPER SANDUSKY—Plans are being completed for a new feature program to be given at the 1957 Wyandot County Fair Tuesday night, Sepa . 10. A county-wide school band program will be given in front of the grandstand. Bands from each of the seven county schools and Upper Sandusky and Carey will participate. Following the individual numbers, a mass number will be presented. Each band will be given the same amount of time on the program.

Another new feature to be added to the program of Junior Fair Day, will be a greased pig scramble on Wednesday, Sept. 11.

SHORT CIRCUIT SETS FIRE

GALION—Galion firemen were called to the Church of the Nazarene at 11:40 a.m. Tuesday when a short circuit in electric wiring caused an outside light socket to burn. A neighbor, Homer Hartwell, noticed the burning socket and called the fire department.

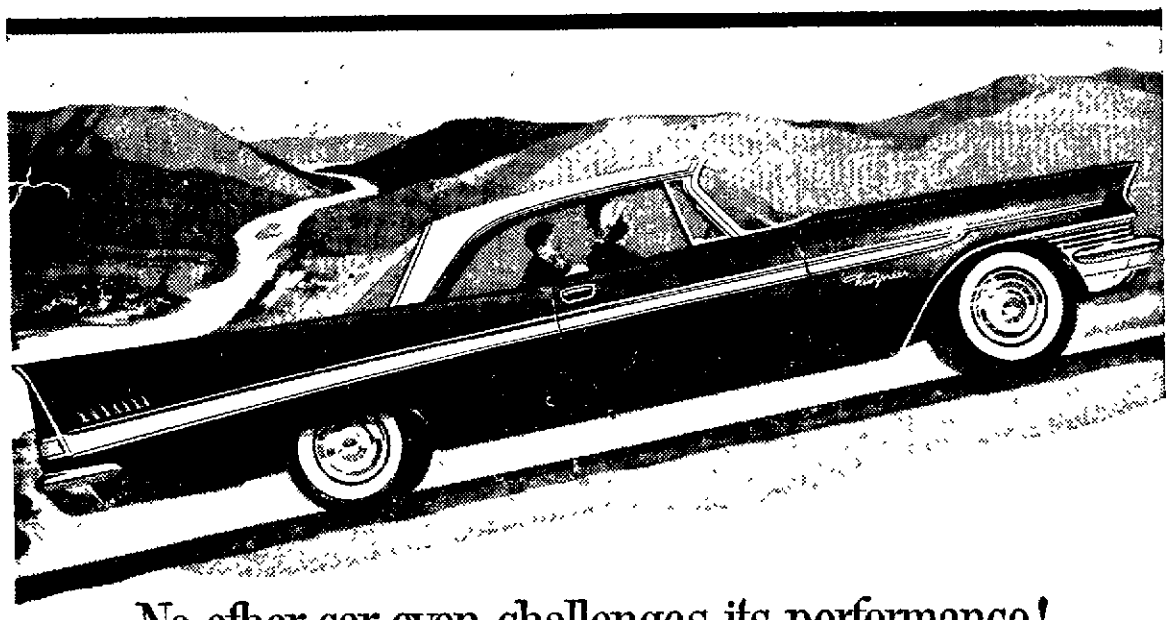
THE MIGHTY CHRYSLER

Most glamorous car in a generation



No other car even challenges its performance!

Here are some figures for comparison. We believe they talk louder than words; and that you will find this message worth reading.

So much has been said about the good looks of the 1957 Chrysler that you may have the impression its reputation rests on styling alone. The truth is it's even more impressive in action. Three performance figures prove this. Here is the first: Chrysler's Firepower V-8 engine packs 325 hp (and up to 375 hp in the Chrysler 300-C), tops in the industry.

Is horsepower the only way you judge performance? Certainly not. There's engine displacement and torque. Chrysler's displacement is 392 cu. in. What about torque, the real pay-dirt power that turns the wheels? Chrysler's torque is 430 lb.-ft. at 2800 rpm, again tops in the industry.

More power than you need? Maybe. But it means unquestioned command of the highway when you want it. It means your Chrysler will stay like new much longer because it can loaf where other cars strain. So you see, when we call this car the Mighty Chrysler we mean just that . . . the mightiest on the highway! Come in and drive it soon.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the difficult jobs of housekeeping is to wax linoleum and asphalt tile floors. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it's no longer necessary to wax and scrub; just apply Glaxo about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor.

Kenton Woman Says Dog Is Innocent

St. Bernard Is in Middle Of Battle on Charge Of Sheep Killing

KENTON — A 105 pound St. Bernard dog by the name of Annie, owned by a Kenton GI, Gene Perkins, now in service overseas, is in a lot of doggone trouble. Gene's mother, Mrs. Joan Perkins, who is taking care of Annie during her master's absence, resides at 905 N. Leighton St., Kenton.

A docile, gentle animal, who likes children and often frolics and plays with Gene's younger brother, Eddie, along with the neighbor kids, Annie is thought of as a wonderful playmate. With this fine reputation, it was indeed a shock to the Perkins family and everybody around the neighborhood when Raymond Hattery, Hardin County dog warden, appeared at the Perkins home and said he wanted Annie on a sheep-killing charge.

MRS. PERKINS took Mr. Hattery to the rear of the house where Annie was chained to the garage and over the protests of Mrs. Perkins that Annie was chained all night and could not be guilty of the charge, Mr. Hattery took possession of the dog.

By this time, some of the neighbors had arrived on the scene and one of them, Robert Chalfin, also told Mr. Hattery that he knew Annie had been chained all night the night the "murder" took place.

The alleged sheep killing had taken place during the night of Feb. 24, between 2 and 4 a.m. on the Emerson Fay farm some two miles west of Kenton on Route 30-S. Mr. Fay had called Mr. Hattery and reported that two dogs were in his sheep, a large brown and white one and a small yellow one. Mr. Hattery's chief suspect was Annie. In spite of the protests the dog warden took Annie away.

THIS WAS too much for Annie's supporters and they immediately regrouped their forces and went to battle again. The following day Mrs. Perkins obtained the services of an attorney, Charles Lease of Kenton, who won a hearing for Annie before the Hardin County Commissioners and Prosecuting Attorney Paul McKinley. After the hearing the commissioners announced they would support the dog warden. They, however, did grant Mrs. Perkins the right to have Annie removed from the custody of Mr. Hattery and taken to a local kennel.

Using the last method at his disposal for saving Annie, Mr. Lease went to Judge Arthur D. Tudor, judge of Hardin County Common Pleas Court, and obtained a temporary injunction to prevent the dog warden from killing or otherwise disposing of Annie. In that action, it was charged that Mr. Hattery's seizure of the dog was unwarranted, arbitrary, unreasonable and without legal authority. No decision on the validity of the charges will be made until a hearing is held on a permanent injunction against Mr. Hattery.

MR. HATTERY claims he found some brown and white hair similar to Annie's on a fence. He also said he found dried blood on Annie's right leg when he went to the Perkins home to pick up the dog. Mrs. Perkins says the "blood" was nothing but mud. A veterinary who examined her reported no traces of wool could be found in her teeth and no blood on her brushy coat.

Meanwhile, the temporary injunction and a $100 bond posted by Mrs. Perkins permit Annie to continue her life, probably unaware of the legal maneuvers being made to save her life and the general uproar in the community caused by the case.

APPARENTLY UNAWARE of the legal maneuvering going on about her, Annie, a St. Bernard confined to a Hardin County kennel, wonders why she is not allowed to play and romp with the neighboring children. The dog is charged with killing sheep, a charge which is denied by her mistress, Mrs. Joan Perkins of Kenton. A court injunction has spared the dog's life so far.

Article by Rep. Bow Is Contradicted by Army

TOKYO (AP) — The U. S. Army said today conditions for American soldiers confined in Japanese prisons are satisfactory. The Army makes monthly inspections of all prisons holding Americans convicted by Japanese courts of violating Japanese laws.

Rep. Frank T. Bow (R-Ohio) wrote an article in the January issue of American Legion Magazine claiming American prisoners are mistreated.

He quoted two unidentified servicemen who complained of solitary confinement, threats for violating rules, beatings, bad food, indifference to health and unsanitary conditions.

Unfinished Business

The thought must have occurred to many of President Eisenhower's countrymen, apropos of his recent difficulty with a nagging respiratory ailment, that they would hate to bear his responsibility if they did not feel up to par.

With it goes the thought that even more nagging than a cough and half an earache would be carping critics looking for evidence that the presidential function is being slighted whenever Mr. Eisenhower eases up on the grinding routine of his job.

It is easy to understand, therefore, why there is renewed interest in a point of view the President, himself, called to attention when he returned to his job early in 1956, after his heart attack — that Congress should decide how to bestow the presidential duties in the event that a chief executive's health fails.

This is an item of unfinished business in the federal government. Proposals have been made in Congress and outside of Congress. But there has been no general agreement on any of them.

There is unlikely to be any agreement in the absence of a crisis, because representatives and senators are reluctant to commit themselves on a touchy political problem.

It is touchy because the presidency of the United States is the focal point of an endless struggle for power among contending political factions. The office ordinarily changes hands in two ways — through election and through the death of the occupant.

The addition of a third way, covering the possibility of the occupant's inability to serve because of failing health, has been sidestepped. The Constitution mentions it, without specifying who should make the decision.

Those who might have this power of decision would hold a power as great as that of the electorate. Yet, when they bestowed the presidential function on the vice president, they would be denied the philosophic acceptance of the inevitable which strengthens the position of a vice president after the death of a president.

That is the problem. It is tough. No Congress ever solved it. It may not be solved now, despite President Eisenhower's belief it should be solved.

But it cannot be shelved and forgotten—not as long as Mr. Eisenhower's candid attitude about his health keeps it in the forefront of popular attention.

Delayed Beginning

Edward E. Holt, Ohio's new superintendent of public instruction, can make or break the State Board of Education, whether it continues to have its present 23 members or is whittled down to a more manageable 9 members.

The reason is stated in the Report of the Ohio School Survey Committee, on which the state's new school organization is based. That report pointed out that no board could administer as a group. Responsibility must be vested in one person, the report declared.

With the right man on the job as state superintendent, the school board can act as a policy-making body whose purposes will be carried out by its executive officer. This is the pattern of successful local school administration. It is the policy of the boards of trustees of successful colleges.

Because it lacked a superintendent at the outset and has had difficulty finding one who could serve, Ohio's Board of Education has been floundering. Perhaps it was predestined to flounder for a time, but it was not foredoomed to flounder forever. Its delayed beginning does not mean it cannot come to a quick realization of its potentialities.

Superintendent Holt can make it be what it was intended to be, and his many friends in Marion are confident that he will meet the challenge in great style.

No Persecution

The Department of Justice charges on which James R. Hoffa of the Teamsters Union must defend himself have nothing to do with his occupation.

The charges are concerned with Mr. Hoffa's alleged attempt to bribe an employe of a government body, the U.S. Senate.

Like the charges which may grow out of the Senate's investigation of racketeering carried on by various people in scattered parts of the country, the charges against Mr. Hoffa arise from activities contrary to public law. If they can be proved, the guilty parties are lawbreakers.

Mr. Hoffa has wasted no time saying that he is being persecuted as an official of the Teamsters Union.

Other unionists may adopt the same attitude—that the Senate investigation and the Department of Justice indictments that may grow out of evidence of criminal acts are "union baiting."

Union leaders and unionists must make up their minds about what is at stake in what already has been brought to light about racketeering in Portland is going to be brought to light about similar practices elsewhere.

The future of unionism depends on their decision. If they realize that public confidence can be earned by distinguishing between right and wrong, confidence is theirs. If they adopt Mr. Hoffa's attitude that it is persecution to call a labor leader to account, confidence will be beyond their reach.

Big Step Backwards

By David Lawrence

Democrats Assuming Roles of Isolationists

Is the Democratic party trying to turn the clock back to the days of Harding, or even McKinley?

Questions like this are being asked not only because so many of the Democratic members of the Senate have been voting on the "isolationist" side of recent issues in American foreign policy but because the Democratic chairman of the House Judiciary Committee has just announced that he is introducing a bill to express the will of Congress that the president, the vice president and the secretary of state should not be "out of the country at the same time."

Lawrence

One is led to believe that the airplane, which can land alongside a cruiser at sea with mail and official papers or the radio telephone or telegraphic communication from ship to shore have not yet been invented.

It seems to be overlooked, too, that the president can be flown back to the mainland in a couple hours.

One is led by the critics to think also that, when a president of the United States goes aboard a warship flying the American flag, he is not on American territory.

THIS IS WHAT they used to say 40 and 50 years ago, in fact until Franklin D. Roosevelt started the custom of moving overseas to Yalta and other places — even during a World War—aboard U. S. Navy cruisers. Mr. Roosevelt went to sea once aboard Vincent Astor's yacht — a private vessel — without arousing even Republican criticism.

The fact that the secretary of state is out of the country hasn't a thing to do with presidential succession either.

It used to be that the secretary of state was next in line after the vice president but this was changed in 1947 by an act of Congress when the Republicans were in control.

It provides that the speaker of the House and then the president pro tempore of the Senate would become president in the event that anything happened to the president and vice president.

Since both Speaker Rayburn and Senator Hayden are Democrats, it would mean the country would have a Democratic administration, so it would seem that this is something which should worry the Republicans, not the Democrats.

There is, of course, no function that the vice president — even if he were in the United States — can perform that the president is required by law to do or which the president could not do when he is on board an American warship or inside an American embassy abroad.

When the secretary of state, moreover, is out of Washington, the undersecretary of state becomes acting secretary of state and is empowered to handle all legal documents. No interruption to public business presents itself here.

IT IS NOT CLEAR, therefore, what the purpose of the Democratic party's spokesmen was in raising the issue of the absence of the President, vice president and secretary of state unless it was to cast some reflection on the conduct of their respective offices.

The President has been away from the White House, of course, only because of health reasons and surely even the Democrats haven't strayed so far in the partisan battle as to continue to try to make an issue of the President's health. It cost them plenty of votes in the last election.

As for Vice President Nixon, his mission to Africa to offset what the Communists are doing there was arranged by Mr. Eisenhower many weeks ago — long before the President found that his cough required sunshine and a sea trip to clear it up.

The president pro tempore of the Senate, of course, presides over sessions of that body in the absence of the vice president. Few vice presidents traveled more than Vice President Barkley. No criticism was voiced then.

As for Secretary Dulles, he had a long - standing engagement to attend in Canberra, an important meeting of the nations which are members of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

It turns out now that, with the death of President Magsaysay of the Philippines, the close personal relations established at Canberra by Mr. Dulles with Vice President Garcia of the Philippines were especially opportune.

FOR THE UNITED STATES to have sent a subordinate to that meeting in Australia would have been regarded as an affront by the other countries in the SEATO alliance.

It is a lucky thing, too, that an experienced diplomat like Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen, who is familiar with Communist intrigues, is at this time being transferred from Moscow to Manila.

But the carping criticism really has little to do with the merits of all these questions.

The truth is that some members of the Democratic party in Congress now are outdoing what Sen. McCarthy was accused of doing in "encroaching on the prerogatives of the executive branch of the government."

Although the president is charged by the constitution with the duty of conducting the foreign relations of the United States, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has appointed a special subcommittee whose main object seems to be to badger the secretary of state at the very time when a crisis is going on in the Middle East.

Picayunish items in the press are seized upon for inquiry. Thus, when a former attache at the White House made an off - the - cuff statement in a speech a few days ago about the breakup of the Aswan Dam negotiations with Nasser of Egypt in 1956, the Senate subcommittee promptly announced that it would "investigate."

But there's one thing the Democratic senators will never investigate and that's the background of the episode in which certain Democratic senators served a warning against spending money for the Aswan Dam financing.

IN FACT, the Senate Appropriations Committee early in 1956 wrote in its foreign aid report a specific provision that no funds could be used for the Aswan Dam without the prior approval of the committee.

It was quite clear at the time that senators from cotton - growing states were fearful of the competition of Egyptian cotton grown at lower cost if the dam were built. Many of the Democratic senators, for some of these same reasons, voted recently against the provision in the Eisenhower Doctrine resolution authorizing the President to use 200 million dollars for economic aid in the Middle East.

If the Democratic party thesis of today is that Nasser should have been given the Aswan Dam, then the thesis of yesterday implies that the materialistic interests of a special economic group interested with the peace efforts of the United States. It's a strange contradiction.

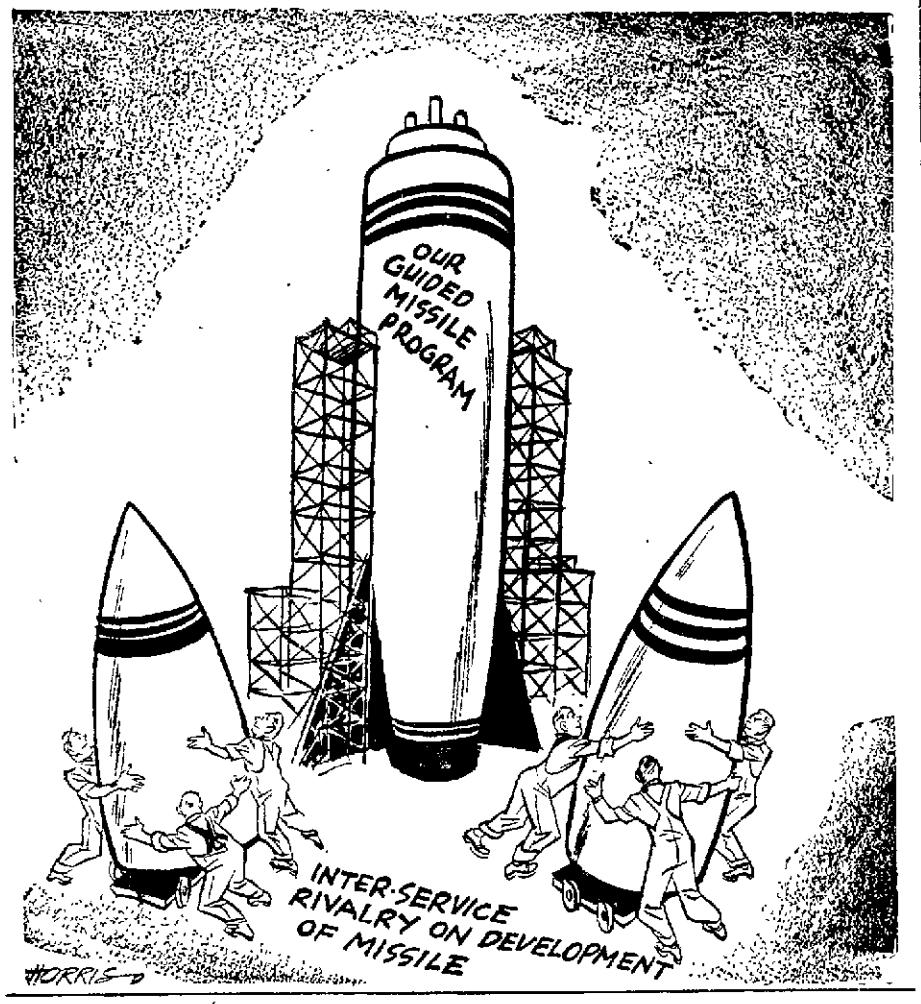
Too Many Cooks



Key Problem at Bermuda

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

It's not what they say in the next few days but what they do afterwards that counts.

President Eisenhower and British Prime Minister Macmillan meet in Bermuda Thursday. Eisenhower and former Prime Minister Eden met in Washington 18 months ago.

At the end of the conference Eisenhower and Macmillan will issue a statement, just as Eisenhower and Eden did at the end of theirs.

ALMOST CERTAINLY it will stress American-British unity, just as Eisenhower and Eden said: "Conscious of the unity of our two countries . . ."

Ironically they went on to say that if anyone began a war in the Middle East, which was tense at the time, they'd consult on how to stop it.

That was said on Feb. 1, 1956, when Eisenhower and Eden were thinking of the only kind of war which seemed possible at the time: an Arab-Israeli war.

But within 10 months Britain, France and Israel began the war with their invasion of Egypt, and American-British unity was literally shot to pieces.

—:—

INSTEAD OF conferring with Britain on how to stop somebody else's shooting, this country joined the United Nations in demanding that Britain, France and Israel stop.

The invasion of Egypt and the American stand against its friends caused a split between this country and Britain which hasn't been healed yet.

Trying to heal it will be the primary task confronting Eisenhower and Macmillan.

But how did the split happen? What had happened between last February and last fall to cause Britain, France and Israel to begin a war without even telling this country?

Those three countries got fed up with the leadership — or lack of leadership — of Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles in the Middle East.

—:—

THEY HAD sat back and taken no strong, positive leadership in trying to chill Egyptian President Nasser, who had seized the Suez Canal.

The same lack of American leadership in the Middle East — far more tense now than when Eden was in Washington — could show up again in the same or another form.

So while Eisenhower and Macmillan may stand with their arms around each other's shoulders to face the world at Bermuda, the real nature of American-British relations will depend on events in the months ahead.

For the Middle East will provide Eisenhower and Macmillan with the most important problem they'll have to talk about, next to restoring some kind of unity.

If the United States has any real plan for bringing peace to the Middle East — which may mean taking a strong stand against Nasser and perhaps alienating much of the Arab world — neither Eisenhower nor Dulles has revealed it.

Profitless Prosperity

By Raymond Moley

The promise by the President of a balanced budget for fiscal 1958 is likely to delude Americans into a belief that when the government takes in more than it spends there need be no fear of inflation.

A bit of economic common sense, however, will serve to dissipate that fatal delusion. For the budget is inflationary, despite the possibility that it will be balanced.

Moreover, there are forces, such as unwise wage increases and large consumption of materials for public works, that are just as likely to produce inflation as the government printing presses.

And finally, there is no assurance that the 1958 budget will be balanced at all.

An authority as eminent as Prof. Arthur Burns, until this year chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said recently that the President's budget, even if balanced, is inflationary.

PERHAPS THIS BIT of frankness reflects his feeling as a private citizen after an unsuccessful fight while in the government to ward off the spenders from the President. For in past years Mr. Burns and Treasury Secretary Humphrey were the two sanest of the White House's financial advisers.

To the average American the word "balanced" is comforting. It means in private life the thrifty habit of making a little more money than is spent. It means something for savings against rainy days ahead. Or it means paying off debts.

But such a balance as is indicated in the President's budget has no such comforting assurances.

When the President admonished the unions and employers alike to use self-restraint in wage and price increases, he was pointing at one of the most certain causes of inflation other than the printing of paper money. For a wave of wage increases would injure the national economy and only partially benefit the workers on the receiving end.

As Lemuel R. Boulware, vice president of General Electric, said recently: "Money wages are the pay you see. The real wages are what the pay is worth."

DESPITE the arguments of union economists, there is no sufficient increase in the product of labor to justify such increases of wages and benefits as we have seen in recent years.

Despite progress in technology, the actual increase in productivity is only about 3 per cent a year in manufacturing, and 2 per cent in the economy as a whole. And the higher rate for manufacturing is justified by the efficiency of a few of the manufacturers.

Another reason why this budget, although it may be balanced, is inflationary is the presence in it of vast amounts of pork barrel expenditures. Even the Joint Congressional Committee on the Economic Report has warned about large spending on public works at this time.

But the President was indulging in what may prove to be unwarranted optimism when he said there may be a surplus in 1958.

This rosy expectation was based upon an assumption of a continuing rise of business activity. The unpopularity of the spending plans of the administration is in itself a serious shock to the confidence which has carried the President through his first four years.

-:-

THERE IS ALREADY a slowdown in forward capital expenditures. This slow-down will be compounded because its very existence induces further restraints.

There is an ominous note in many of the annual statements of corporations. Volume is up, but with little or no increases in profits available for the government's tax.

In short, we cannot support an extravagant government out of a profitless prosperity.

The bloom is off the quiz shows. It has been demonstrated that some Americans have photographic memories and total recall and that advertising agencies can find them and exploit them on television. Next demonstration, please, and let's find something new.

Education is always interesting to talk about because no one knows what it is to be educated and this leaves infinite latitude for differences of opinions.

I am not surprised because Mid-Easterners drive hard bargains with westerners who become involved in their timeless quarrels. Rudyard Kipling always said, "Never the twain shall meet."

The uproarious greeting cards now in vogue have added humor to occasions such as birthdays that formerly were so stickily sentimental they were dreaded.

According to advertisements in slick magazines, the two things American men are supposed to want most are engine - driven lawnmowers and outboard motors for boats.

I doubt if I could be happy in one of the modern houses that give an indoor - outdoor feeling. My idea of home is a place where you shut out the world in order to rest up for facing it tomorrow.

It is my belief the current tone of discussion about the federal budget reflects a sense of insecurity among millions of Americans who are starting to wonder. "Whither America?"

The death of Adm. Richard E. Byrd brought to mind the topical jokes that used to be based on the theme of "With Byrd at the South Pole." They never were very funny, but I wonder now why we ever thought they were.

It seems to me the Pacific Coasters testifying in Washington about didoes among racketeers out there are having trouble getting used to the idea that Congress has a right to be interested in their affairs.

Every spring I resolve to walk in the footsteps of Louis Bromfield who always planted willow switches in marshy ground to make willow groves for posterity, but I never get to it.

The little bit of larceny in all men has become epidemic in Virginia and Georgia this winter, where radar speed traps snap shut on the well filled purses of motorists going to and from Florida. A gouge of $20 is common, but $50 not unheard of as local yokels cut in for their share of the Florida bonanza. The Carolinas also are trapping, according to returning travelers, but not so ruthlessly.

One of my pet ideas for improving the behavior of human beings is a bullet-proof glass cage for public exhibition of offenders, starting with sub-human specimens that abuse helpless children.

I predict that within 10 years de-emphasis of football in schools which got out of entertainment and into physical education will have gone so far that parents and students will prefer them.

I also predict that the peace everybody talks about can exist only in terms of living endlessly on the brink of violence, exactly as peace is being preserved now. Ask the next policeman you meet how the police department preserves law and order

Horse Sense Award for 1957

The Elmer Twitchell Award for the Horse Sense goes to Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey for his declaration that our greatest danger rests in the widespread belief in "the great American money-well myth," or the idea that Washington has a well with an inexhaustible supply of dough for all sorts of costly extravagances. George is talking straight.

Not only do millions of folks sincerely believe there is a money-well, but they seem to be operating under a slogan, "A well-digger in every pot and two oaken buckets in every home."

GRANDPA, THE PIONEERS and the builders of this country were anti-myth men. They were not taken in by fairy-tale concepts. They wanted no part of go for broke programs.

They were certain there were no bottomless money-wells in Washington with every day "National Get Yourself a Dipper Day."

But the early 30's and the New Deal (out of which many necessary and commendable things came) gave the country the notion that Uncle Sam, Santa Claus and Midas were triplets.

It got sold on the idea that Washington could take care of everything, that debt was as healthy as spinach-greens and that Vitamins A, B, and C were found only in extravagance.

Millions of men and women have come up since 1932 honestly believing in the Potomac Gold Mines, Self Service and with green trading stamps.

THEY HAVE BEEN subscribing to the most cockeyed economic theories in world history. They have made Aesop their financial adviser and Hans Christian Andersen their authority on addition and subtraction.

They have remained unruffled by debt so astronomical that it would have scared their forefathers to death.

Grandpa used to be awed by the mention of $100,000. Now the mention of millions disturbs few people. A billion is just chicken feed.

The cry of "Who cares?" and "I should worry" is widespread. There is a common theory that it will come out all right in the wash, provided nobody bothers to count the laundry.

-:-

"THE ONLY MONEY the U.S. Government has is what it takes away from the people and, after charging for overhead, passes back to them," says Mr. Humphrey who is as sage a man as the government has.

"You can't spend yourself or a government into riches," he adds. And he puts it up to Congress to heed the red light and stop using a cornucopia as a symbol of government.

We expect little cutting from that source. Too many senators believe in the money-well myth. And the song of countless pressure groups is "Myth me again."

JOHN YOVICSIN, Gettysburg football coach, has been put in charge of football at Harvard. He has been performing in a region which turned out some great All-Americans, as for instance, Lee, Meade, Hancock, Ewell, Reynolds and Pickett.

BACK HOME STUFF: Ernie Hintz has been 63 years in the composing room of the New Haven Register, celebrated the event the other day, and is still going strong. Ernie was there in our day as a cub reporter and we never knew a nicer guy.

Awards Given To Scouters at District Dinner

Awards and recognition for service were given to scouting units and their leaders Monday night at the annual Marion-Morrow District fellowship dinner at Caledonia School.

Master of ceremonies was Robert Gerhart, cubmaster for Pack 27 in Mount Gilead. The invocation was by Rev. Albert Wagner of the Caledonia Methodist Church.

Recognition of district officers for 1957 was given by J. H. Walker, council member, and training recognition was presented by Elmer E. Emerson, chairman of the district leadership training committee.

The following veterans received service recognition from Col. J. Arthur Hamilton, district chairman:

Ten years' service, Richard Slack, committeeman for Troop 33; Charles Chappell, chairman of Troop 33; Frank Sloat, Troop 41 scoutmaster, and E. P. McAffee, Troop 32 scoutmaster.

Fifteen years, Benjamin Hinamann, Troop 33 committeeman.

Twenty years, Milton Lashley, Troop 11 scoutmaster, and Everette Coldwell, Troop 33 scoutmaster.

First place window display awards were presented by Harold Fralich, district commissioner, to Post 3, Troop 46 and Packs 2 and 14, all of Marion. Awards to Packs 2 and 29, Troop 7 and Ship 59 were given by John Peacock, district vice-chairman, for achievement of round-up goals for 1956.

A tribute to scouters was given by W. H. Goodwin, chairman of the Harding Area Council finance committee, and cub scout basic training certificates were awarded to 26 adults.

Nicholas A. Cafagno, member of the district camping and activities committee was in charge of the program.

Jesus Loved Them

By Patrick and Garrison

MARTHA

"But Martha was cumbered about much serving, and came to him, and said, Lord, dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to serve alone?"
—Luke X:40

Martha, the sister of Lazarus and Mary, who lived in the village of Bethany, personifies the kind of devotion that expresses itself in service.

Because she loved Jesus, she wanted more than anything else to minister to His physical needs.

So the moment the Master crosses the threshold of her house, she rushes about to see that He is comfortable and well fed. He is surely tired from his journey, and would like to wash. He must have a good meal, too, and refreshment.

She sets about at once with household chores—lighting the fire, preparing food, laying the table.

When her sister Mary does not stir a hand to assist her, but merely sits at Jesus' feet, transfixed as she listens to His every word, Martha complains to Jesus.

It seems to her that if Mary loved Jesus as she does, she would surely want to serve Him. But Jesus tells her:

"Martha, Martha, thou art careful and troubled about many things: but one thing is needful: and Mary hath chosen that good part, which shall not be taken away from her."

Nevertheless, Jesus understood Martha's attitude, and He loved her for her devotion and response to Him.

Gradually, as time went on, and Martha came to have a deeper understanding of the Truth embodied in Jesus, she lost to some degree her impatience and anxiety.

Later, at the Passover Supper in Bethany, after her brother has been raised from the dead by Jesus, it is still Martha who serves the table.

But, from the brief glimpse we have of her on this occasion, it is clear that she has been freed from her former preoccupation with household cares. She is no longer cumbered, no longer "troubled about many things."

For her devotion and service have led her to a realization of "the one thing that is needful"—love made calm with trust.

Plans for Style Show Finished By Federation

Election of delegates and alternates to the annual state convention and announcement of last minute plans for the spring style show, Profile "24," slated tonight, highlighted the monthly meeting of the executive board of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs Tuesday in the Women's Club Home.

The state convention will be held April 9, 10 and 11 in Cincinnati. Representing the federation as delegates will be Mrs Lester S. Huhn, president, and Miss Elizabeth Ammann, chairman of the Art Department. Alternates are Mrs. Paul Knauss and Mrs. Wayne Butterworth.

Mrs. James W. Burns, American Home chairman, asked for volunteers to help back stage with the style show which will be given in the auditorium of Harding High School at 8 p.m. Refreshments will be served and there will be prizes awarded during the evening.

Mrs. Huhn reported on the Central district legislation day held in Columbus March 7 when the following members of the Marion Federation took part in a panel discussion: Mrs. J. Edwin Probst, Mrs. Smith Witter, Miss Ammann, Mrs W. D. McGee and Mrs. Huhn.

Announcement also was made of the annual meeting to be held Wednesday, May 15, at Hotel Harding. Luncheon will be at 12 o'clock. As in former years all clubwomen are invited to attend and at this time retiring club presidents will present their successors. Announcement also was made of the annual fine arts day observance to be held some time in May instead of April as previously planned.

Miss Madge Cooper announced the open house to be held by the Marion County Chapter of the American Red Cross this weekend and Mrs. Knauss announced the tour of the Toledo Art Museum to be held March 28. Deadline for reservations is March 25.

Mrs. W. D. McGee, chairman of the community service department, told of progress being made in the department's two major projects — providing books for the Silver Street school library and furniture, toys and other articles to add to the comfort at the headquarters of the Family Service Society.

Mrs. Forest Flockencier of the Literature Department announced a meeting for April 2 when the speaker will be Mrs. H. V. Falor, and Mrs U. E. Hootman, conservation chairman, gave a talk on bees and their value in the pollination of fruit. Mrs. Ralph Epley conducted a memorial to Mrs. W. A. Wylie of the Three Arts Club and Mrs. B. D. Have Perspiration Stains Ever Ruined Your Dress?
New ARRID with Perstop* Stops Perspiration and Odor
DRAMATIC STEAMBATH TEST SHOWS HOW
1 ARRID with Perstop* was rubbed into this woman's forehead. Then she was put into a steambath at 104°. Fifteen minutes later ...
2 ... she was dripping with perspiration—but ARRID kept her forehead dry. ARRID will do the same for your underarms, too.
3 Just rub ARRID in—rub perspiration and odor out. When the cream vanishes you know you're safe, even in hot, stuffy rooms.
4 ARRID with Perstop*, used daily, keeps your clothes safe from ugly perspiration stains, keeps your underarms dry, soft and sweet.
5 Doctors have proved in laboratory tests that ARRID with Perstop* is 1½ times as effective as all leading deodorants tested against perspiration and odor.
Proved 1½ Times as Effective
Remember—nothing protects you like a cream. And no cream protects you like ARRID. Don't be half safe. Be completely safe. Use ARRID to be sure. 43¢ plus tax.

SALESMANSHIP INITIATIVE DEPENDABILITY

Signed at Marion, Ohio, the.....day of.....195..

DISTRICT MAN CIRCULATION MANAGER

. . . . . a mark of distinction

As part of its continuing plan of service to youth, The Marion Star has initiated a new program of recognition aimed at that segment of the area youth who serve both the newspaper and its readers by being STAR NEWSPAPERBOYS.

This new program is built around the CERTIFICATE OF MERIT illustrated above in actual size.

The CERTIFICATE OF MERIT has been designed as an award which can be earned by each retiring Star Newspaperboy who has served his route faithfully and well.

To qualify, each boy, when he retires from his route, must have served at least one year on a Star suburban or two years on a Star city route.

In addition, each boy must qualify for the award on points of service and route management according to his district man.

THE CERTIFICATE OF MERIT is not a blanket award. It is not given automatically. It must be earned.

In addition to serving as a note of appreciation for a job well done from The Star, the CERTIFICATE OF MERIT provides the retiring Newspaperboy with a ready-made work reference that can well be considered by any future employer.

The Marion Star is proud to add this new program to its already extensive list of youth activities. It is prouder still that this new program places special emphasis on that particular group of 235 boys who deliver The Star to 15,750 homes every day.

General Tire Works on New Rocket Engine

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big new rocket engine, using solid instead of hard-to-handle liquid fuel for powering an intermediate range ballistic missile, has been developed and put under test.

This was disclosed today in a routine annual report to stockholders by the General Tire Co., which seemed to contain considerably more information about some weapons than has been announced by the Defense Department. The report said the new rocket motor went into its testing stage last October.

The motor was designed by the company's Aerojet-General Corp. and, said the report, is "the largest solid propellant power plant ever used in any ballistic missile." The motor was developed for the Jupiter IRBM, the company reports.

However, Army experts told a newsman that Jupiter IRBM program does not now include use of a solid instead of liquid fuel. This appeared to indicate the new rocket engine may be intended for use by the Navy in its Polaris IRBM. The Navy started out with the Army on joint development of the Jupiter, but a few months ago announced plans to go ahead with its own project.

Patrolman Cleared

CLEVELAND (AP)—An Ohio Turnpike patrolman accused of abusiveness in making an arrest has been cleared by Lt. John L. Bishop, patrol chief. Bishop said Tuesday his investigation showed that David Benis, 50, of Cleveland, had no basis for his complaint.

Benis, in calling for the investigation, said Patrolman T. A. Davis used abusive language and spoke so roughly that Benis' 7-year-old daughter began to cry.

When Benis ignored a warning to drive faster and stop causing a traffic hazard, the lieutenant said, Davis arrested him and took him to the Newton Falls police station, where Benis signed a waiver and paid of fine of $15.20.

Metropolitan Areas Will Feel Impact of Big Road Program

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A city planning expert predicted today that highway construction over the next 20 years will change the character and structure of metropolitan areas more than all the work of metropolitan planners since 1945.

John T. Howard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology associate professor, offered with his prophecy on the impact of the expanded federal highway construction program this lament:

We are ill prepared, now that the new highways are upon us, to say where they should be built in the best interests of the metropolitan areas.

Howard, addressing the American Society of Planning Officials, argued that the purpose of highways was not the carrying of traffic but to serve the community.

He said a highway so designed and built that it produces land development patterns worsening the livability and efficiency of a metropolitan area is a disservice to the community.

New Weather Forecast Working Only in East

CHICAGO (AP)—The latest wrinkle in weather forecasting—by mathematical theories developed in the last 10 years—works well in the East but has been a flop in the mid-continent, a researcher said today.

Prof. Sverre Petterssen, a director of the University of Chicago's weather forecasting research center, said mathematical forecasts for the area between the Continental Divide and the Mississippi Valley are worse than no forecasts at all.

However, they are up to 90 per cent accurate in the East, he said.

OSU Host to Farmers

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A business lunch and a series of discussions are on the agenda today as the 45th annual Ohio Farm and Home Week enters its second day at Ohio State University today.

Awards will be presented to outstanding young Ohio farmers. Included in the topics for discussion are rural zoning, meat research, and textiles and clothing.

A crowd of 1,144 visitors attended Tuesday's opening session. They heard Gov. C. William O'Neill comment that he is "interested in maintaining and increasing the place of agriculture in the state." A series of demonstrations, lectures and exhibits for the farmer and homemaker are scheduled during the three-day event.

Held in Car Theft

WARREN, Ohio (AP)—Two youths from Burton, Ohio, were in jail today accused of stealing a 1957 sports car valued at $4,000 and cutting it up to sell as junk. Police were seeking a third youth.

The pair was arrested Tuesday after state highway patrolmen stopped a truck near here and found that the "scrap" the 16-year-old driver said he was taking to Warren to sell appared to be parts of a late model car.

Patrolmen said the youth implicated Lalor Herst, 20, of South Cheshire Street, Burton. Officers said Herst admitted stealing the car and named the youth being sought as an accomplice.

Australians Fear Permanent Soviet Bases in Antarctic

WASHINGTON (AP) — Australia has expressed concern to the United States over the possibility that Russian scientific bases in Australian-claimed Antarctica could become permanent.

The bases now are being established in connection with the 1958 International Geophysical Year which begins in July.

Back of the concern, informed officials say, is a fear Russia's huge submarine fleet could use Antarctic bases to harass sealanes, and possibly air lanes, south of the equator.

This could affect shipping between Australia and Europe, as well as between South America and the United States, in case of war.

The Australian concern, embassy officials said, was expressed to U. S. officials both in Washington and in Canberra in early February. There has been no formal note on the matter, they added.

Paul Lawrence Cited as 'Outstanding Dairyman'

Two Sons Are Partners With Father; Farm Has 102 Holsteins

By ALLAN BOVEY
Marion Star Farm Editor

When the Ohio Dairymen's Association and the Dairy Science Extension Service held their annual banquet and program in Columbus Tuesday in recognition of efficient production for 1956 dairymen and testing supervisors, Marion County's Paul C. Lawrence was one of the four dairymen chosen throughout the state to be honored. Mr. Lawrence was recipient of a bronze plaque in honor of his having been selected as one of Ohio's "outstanding dairymen" for 1956.

There are probably few Marion County farmers who do not know of the prowess of the several Lawrence families with Holstein cattle. Lawrence Holsteins have been consistent high producers in an area that boasts of more than a few fine herds. In addition, they have taken many a ribbon and rosette at the county fair and beyond. In short, the names "Lawrence" and "Holstein" are virtually synonymous in this locale and the awarding of an "outstanding dairyman's" plaque Tuesday is a fitting tribute to one of Marion's most efficient and progressive farmers.

THE PAUL LAWRENCE dairy operation is, in reality, a three-way affair. For Mr. Lawrence has the help of two sons, Don and Herb, who handle the major share of the work in connection with the dairy enterprise.

Their program is, in some respects, rather unique. In all, the trio runs 385-acres. Of this amount, 250 acres are owned by the father and 135 by Herb. Don and Mr. Lawrence rent an additional 135 acres and the whole is operated on a one-third share basis. Don, single, lives with his parents, while Herb and his family reside nearby. At present, the elder Mr. Lawrence enjoys a position in which he does less of the heavy work. This triumvirate has been working together in harmonious cooperation for some time, and has established, according to Ellwood Parrott, Marion county extension director, "one of the most outstanding dairy operations in the county."

The Lawrence dairy operations include the daily milking of 50 head of registered Holstein cows. There are 102 head in all on the farm, of which 65 are currently registered. Members of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association, Paul Lawrence & Sons began testing in 1940. Their herd average that first year was 8,750 pounds of milk and 340 pounds of butterfat from 28 cows. With 1956 ended, the 50 individuals in the herd had pailed 14,170 pounds of milk and 515 pounds of butterfat.

STATISTICS SHOW that for the past six years the Lawrence herd has made a production record of over 500 pounds of butterfat per cow. In four of those five years, they topped Marion County in total butterfat production.

Working conditions on the Lawrence farm east of Marion are modern in every respect. The milking is done in a 16-stanchion milking barn which is adjoined by a 60x80-foot loafing area. Recently, an 80x120-foot space was blacktopped and all silage feeding is done here. A nearby 16x120-foot block building, open on the east, serves as a loafing and feed area for the heifers and bulls.

The ration fed by Paul Lawrence is composed of 2,500 pounds of ground corn and cob meal, 800 pounds of ground oats, 500 pounds of 32 per cent dairy supplement, 200 pounds of soybean oil meal, 200 pounds of bran, 200 pounds of molasses, 50 pounds of mineral and 40 pounds of salt.

In all, this comprises a 14 per cent mixture which is all ground together. The cows get a ration of approximately one pound of feed to every four pounds of milk. A strict program of culling and production checking is practiced by the Lawrences, with Don chiefly in charge of the milking operations.

In addition to the above grain mixture, the Lawrence cows are given a full feeding of alfalfa-brome grass hay twice each day. They also get a corn-soybean silage feed once a day. Three silos on the Lawrence farm give rise to an increased use of silage in the feeding program. Second-year alfalfa-brome meadows furnish pasture in summertime. All of the grain used in the Lawrence ration is home grown, with the grinding accomplished at a nearby elevator.

THE BREEDING ON the Paul Lawrence farm is done through the facilities of the Northern Ohio Breeders Cooperative. Most of the heifers are bred to come fresh in fall and winter, while the aged cows are figured for calving at intervals throughout the year, a plan which the Lawrences think insures more individual attention.

The Lawrence herd is Bangs free and is accredited for freedom from tuberculosis. Close attention to milking procedures have enabled Mr. Lawrence to experience very little trouble with mastitis and the farm has had only isolated cases of milk fever among its high producers.

In keeping with progress in the dairy industry, the Lawrences purchased a 500-gallon bulk tank last year, which was installed in a newly-constructed 17x14-foot milk house. The house was also equipped with a new 66-gallon hot water heater, a lavatory, drainage racks for milking equipment, and a double vat washing unit. The inside walls of the house are glazed tile to insure easier and more efficient cleaning.

THE LAWRENCE farm is, and has been, under a soil conservation plan that provides for a five-year rotation of crops. This consists of two years of corn, one year of oats or wheat and two years of pasture. Approximately 250 pounds of 3-12-12 fertilizer is applied each year to the corn and small grain crops. Both the first and second year meadows are top dressed with manure. In addition, approximately 100 tons of lime is applied annually, using a formula of three tons per acre. Corn production on the place normally exceeds the 100 bushel mark.

In short, Paul Lawrence & Sons are maintaining a dairy program on the highest level of efficiency. Continued progress has been their reward. As changes have seemed necessary, changes have been made and increased production has justified expenses incurred. Marion county farmers, in general, and those in Marion Township, in particular, may feel proud indeed that one of the state's four outstanding dairymen is a resident of their community.

LATEST IMPROVEMENT. Paul Lawrence & Sons aim to keep pace with the most modern facilities needed to maintain their Holstein dairy program as one of Marion County's best. Shown here is an inside view of the milk room on the Lawrence farm. At left is the stainless steel bulk milk tank, and at right are the racks for easy draining and storage of milking machine equipment. The floor of the building is a two-level affair, designed to eliminate lifting milk cans for dumping into the tank. The walls are of glazed brick and the entire house can be hosed down as often as is necessary to insure A-1 cleanliness.

Area Youths Rank High In Record Book Contest

Roger Schultz of Delaware and James Patterson of Cardington, were both second prize winners in district five and six, respectively, of the Ohio Bankers Association's fourth annual statewide farm record keeping contest for FFA members.

Factors considered in the judging for the prizes, both at the local and state levels, included a written explanation of the financial arrangements which he had made during his high school career to carry out the farming project outlined in the book; neatness, soundness of the farming plans; and accuracy, among other things.

A Lima boy won the top prize, an expense-paid trip to the National FFA Conference in Kansas City next fall.

California has the largest state membership in the Parents and Teachers Assn. in the U.S. with 1,529,756. Ohio is second with 657,829.

Tile Laying Is Popular Chore About Marion

A total of 6,600 rods of tile (1,200 yards) were laid in farms in Marion County during the month of February, accordiig to W. L. Williams, head of the loca' soil conservation office, considered to be an exceptionally large amount.

The work was done on the farms of the Bruggeman Bros. in Big Island Township; Gibb Bros. in Scott Township; and for Wallace Beckel, Richland; Ralph Denzer, Waldo; Harry Ruth, Waldo; Howard Iler, Big Island; Nate Shelton, Luther Mitchell, Claridon; George Stevens, Tully; and Robert Everett, Green Camp. In addition to the tiling on the Bruggeman farm, approximately one mile of open ditch was constructed, Mr. Williams says.

This information was presented at the regular monthly meeting of the supervisors of the Marion County Soil Conservation District held in the local conservation office.

New Applications

Four applications for conservation assistance were received by the board, including 76 acres owned by Carl Seiter in Big Island Township; 119 acres belonging to Donald M. Fryman, Prospect Township; 200 acres, Walter G. Malo, Salt Rock; and 40 acres, Eugene Beckel, Richland Township. A revised plan was considered on 160 acres owned by the Ossing Bros. of Richland Township.

The board welcomed Leroy J. Hinamon as a new member. Mr. Hinamon's appointment to the board was recently approved by the state soil conservation office in Columbus.

Training Dates Set

Announcements were made of the annual vocational-agriculture soil training day in the county's nine schools. This year's event will be held April 12 at the Marion Children's Home farm. In addition, the dates for soil stewardship week will be from May 26 to June 2.

Reports were given on a recent visit by the board to a Columbus clay tile firm and of plans presently underway to provide for the mapping of tile systems on the county's farms. A review of ACP practices for 1958 was also held.

DEEPNESS UNIMPORTANT

Tests at Iowa State College indicate there is no advantage to placing fertilizer deeper than plow depth. In fact, researchers say, where superphosphate fertilizer was placed at 16 and 24-inch depths with a subsoiler, yields were less than where the fertilizer was merely plowed under.

Vision changes more than any of the other senses during a person's life span, says the Better Vision Institute.

Founding of Land Bank To Be Noted

H. L. Wenner and Robert Zieg, both of the Marion community, will be in Louisville, Ky., Thursday to participate in a program commemorating the 40th anniversary of the founding of the Federal Land Bank System. Mr. Zieg is president of the Marion National Farm Loan Association, while Mr. Wenner serves as secretary-treasurer.

A total of 295 farmers are members of the local organization. In all, there are approximately 100 farm loan associations operating in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and Tennessee. Farmers become stockholder-members of their local national association when they obtain federal land bank loans to finance the ownership of their farms.

Featured speaker for the anniversary meeting will be Thomas A. Maxwell, deputy governor of the Farm Credit Administration in Washington, D. C.

Corriedale Ewe Lambs Are Real Heavyweights

John Brady, living near Marion, can't say for certain, but he's almost sure one of his ewes has established some kind of a record.

Monday night a Corriedale ewe dropped twin lambs that weighed a total of 23 pounds. The ewe, a five-year-old, is estimated to weigh approximately 300 pounds herself and is a full blood. Proof of her size is the fact that she produced 19 pounds of wool at shearing time this spring.

After having twins two years ago, the ewe failed to settle last year and didn't produce an offspring.

Michigan Researchers Warn Protein Feeders

Michigan State University's information service warns dairymen to watch the protein content of grain mixtures fed cattle on self-feeding systems. Good legume forage needs only 10 to 12 per cent protein in the grain mix, while low quality legume forage or grass requires up to 18 per cent protein in grain, their researchers say.

Self-fed corn silage usually lists. needs more protein in the grain mix than normally used. "When consuming large quantities of corn silage, dairy cattle should be fed grain mix with about 18 per cent protein," the service points out.

WATER REQUIREMENT

For a soil to produce 100 bushels of corn per acre, it must be able to furnish 16,000 corn plants with about 16 inches, or 420,000 gallons of water, according to Ohio State University extension soils special-

Conservationist Notes Pitfalls

Statistics and Years of Practice Show Tiling Fields Is Paying Proposition

Farm tiling is both a tedious and, in this day and age, a relatively expensive job. Yet, comments W. L. Williams, head of the Marion County branch of the U.S. Soil Conservation Service, no job can be counted on to provide more potential return if the task is accomplished with a degree of skill.

Agriculturists have long recognized the value of tiling. It's the only relatively "sure-cure" way to eliminate swampy fields and do away with land that can only be farmed in dry seasons. Good tile systems can help make most farms nearly 100 per cent tillable, provided wet ground is the only deterant to such a circumstance in the first place.

Most soil conservationists today advocate laying tile only in accordance with accurate surveys and plans. In this way, they say, farmers may be sure their time and labor is going to be worth while and that their tile will do the maximum job possible in the field in which its use is required.

THE OUTLET IS, as most farmers appreciate, the foundation of any tile system. A faulty outlet will defeat the purpose of any number of lateral tile lines. Says Mr. Williams: "The outlet in any field must be low enough to permit the placing of tile three to four feet below the surface in the low areas." "See that the low water flow in the ditch is at least a foot lower than the bottom of the outlet tile," he cautions.

As a rule, five-inch tile is recommended for all laterals, especially in sandy soils or on flat grades of less than one-tenth of a per cent or for that portion of any line over 1,300 feet. Mucky soil requires six-inch tile.

The spacing of laterals is of primary importance, soil conservationists note. They recommend the following spacing for different soil structures: clay and clay loam, 30 to 70 feet apart; silt loam, 60 to 100 feet spart; sandy loam, 100 to 300; and muck, 80 to 200 feet apart. All tile should have a minimum of two feet of soil covering it to prevent tractors or other heavy farm machinery from tipping tile sections at any point in the line. "Three to four feet is an average sufficiency for lateral depths," Mr. Williams comments.

Since water enters tile lines between the joints, and does not filter through the pores of the tile's structure, as some persons think, attention must also be given to the distance between the open joints. A tight fit is advisable for lines in sandy soil, conservationists agree, while sections may be spaced about one-eighth of an inch apart in silt and loam ground. Clay soil calls for a space of between one-eighth and one-fourth, while peat and muck land requires that tile be separated by from one-fourth to three-eighths of an inch.

RUNNING TILE lines in close proximity to wooded areas is the biggest mistake farmers make, Mr. Williams points out. Tree roots have been known to grow several hundred feet in search of water and tile lines are especially vulnerable to marauding roots. Tiling should not be done closer than 75 feet to any woods, emphasizes the Marion soil conservationist, and in no instance should tile sections be laid closer than that if the adjacent trees are such water-tolerant growths as willows, elms or cottonwoods. If a farmer has no choice, then the best practice is to use cemented joints along that section of tile which is in close proximity to the trees. Even so, there is no guarantee that roots will not slip through the cement and eventually plug the line, Mr. Williams declares.

The size of main tile lines depends upon how much potential water is to be removed. Conservationists suggest that when no surface water is to be admitted to the tile, a size that will remove three-eighths of an inch of water in 24 hours is sufficient.

GRADES SHOULD be as steep as possible on flat land, though, Conservationist Williams points out, never less than 0.05 per cent for four to 12-inch tile.

Urges the conservation service: no matter who installs your tile system, insist that a map be made showing the location and size of all lines and the depth and grade of the main. Such a map will save many times its cost by helping locate breaks and stoppages in the future. Your map is a record of a capital investment added to your land. "Why not keep track of that record?" Mr. Williams asks.

In short, tiling is a recognized important farm job. It can insure a profitable return for the time and effort required to lay it. But, the job requires some skill and forthought if best results are to be achieved. And now is a good time to look into it.

Mount Gilead's Kenneth Hull Wins Contest

Kenneth Hull, Mount Gilead High School senior, was recently chosen winner of the tests on farm co-operatives and has been awarded the first prize of a week-long trip to the annual meeting of the American Institute of Cooperation, scheduled for August on the campus of Colorado A.&M. College.

Verlton Kunze of Iberia, was second; Edward Nesbitt of Mount Gilead was third, while David Ruhl and Searl Miller, both of the Johnsville community, tied for fourth place honors.

The awards were based on a test given after the completion of a series of study sessions on the operations of various cooperative businesses in and around Morrow county. Members of all county FFA chapters were eligible to compete for the grand prize.

A traveling plaque awarded the high scoring chapter was retained by the Mount Gilead group, whose top score was 268. Johnsille took second high with a tally of 249, while Cardington's chapter ranked third on the basis of a 248-point total.

Taking part in the event, besides the above-named, were Jim Rengert of Mount Gilead; Junior Wright and Carl Crider of Johnsville; Denny Denton, George Rengert and George Disterdick, Cardington; Bruce Rule, William Morton, Iberia; Thurman Mininger, Ronald Huff and Vinal Terry of Marengo; Gary Hawkins, Roger Primmer and Joe Cook of Chesterville; Robert Trout, Paul Bailey, Ray Bending, all of Edison; and Ray Parmer, Dennis Long and Neil Porter of the Sparta community.

The annual event is sponsored jointly by the following cooperatives: Morrow County Farm Bureau, Marion Production Credit Association, Marion Producers Livestock, North Central Ohio Breeders, North Central Egg and Poultry, National Farm Loan Association, and the Morrow Electric Co-op.

Holstein Breeders Note 1956 Auction Receipts

Registered Holstein breeders in the U.S. sold more than $6,000,000 worth of breeding stock through the auction ring last year, according to the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

A record number of 18,990 animals changed hands, averaging $339 each, compared with $331 in 1955. It was, the association notes, the 11th consecutive year in which the breed's gross auction receipts topped the $5,500,000 mark.

Said the association: "Assuming the price level established in public auction carried over to private sales, the 127,769 registered Holsteins officially transferred to new owners last year brought something more than $67,000,000." And that, the association infers, "ain't hay."

POTENTIAL CHAMPIONS. A highlight of the recent Marion County Beef Cattle Feeders tour was a visit to the Francis Gruber farm on County Road 159 west of Route 98, where the 75 farmers present got a good look at some potential baby beef champions. The Gruber children recently purchased some calves to fit out for 4-H club projects and those present took turns guessing which of the calves in this group showed the most promise for topping a show class and taking top money several months from now. These are Shorthorn nad Hereford animals.

Popcorn Industry Has Surplus Blues

The popcorn industry, it appears, is faced with a dilemma. It seems that as of now there is a surplus of approximately 58 million pounds on hand as the result of the industry's giant harvest in 1956.

According to the Popcorn Producers Association, about 325 million pounds of ear popcorn were grown in 1956, compared with the 10-year average of 267 million pounds yearly. Notes the association: it takes the produce from 160,000 acres to provide for the average year's consumption of popcorn in this country.

With 58 million pounds on hand, and a new crop year on the threshhold, the nation's citizenry will either have to get to popping or popcorn raisers may soon find precious little market for their product.

Five Marion 4-H Advisers Included In Statewide Fete

Five Marion 4-H advisers will be among those honored at a recognition banquet in Columbus March 22, according to Ellwood Parrott, Marion County extension director. The five are Miss Beatrice McIntosh of Marion, Miss Phyllis Converse of Prospect, Mrs. Guy Edwards of Waldo, and Miss Carol Harriman of near Marion.

They are among 922 Ohio 4-H advisers who will be honored in Ohio State University's Memorial Union. The group, collectively, has accumulated approximately 7,000 years of service to 4-H organizations and activities.

Specifically honored will be those advisers who have completed five, 10, 15, 20, 25 and 30 years of service. They will be recipients of certificates and pins for their work.

Among the five directors who will receive awards for 3 years of service is Paul J. Hanes of Delaware. Similar winners are from Lancaster, Bellville, Paris and Milford Center.

Nine advisers will receive 25-year recognition; 32 will be honored for 20 years of service; 51 have been advisers for 15 years; 227 will receive awards for 10 years of help; and 598 will be recognized for five years of help.

Featured speakers on the program will be R. C. Pebworth and John Austin, both of Chicago and both representatives of the Sears-Roebuck Foundation.

Miss McIntosh has been associated with the Grand Prairie Headliners: Miss Converse is adviser of the Green Camp Senior Busy Bees; Mrs. Edwards heads the Whetstone Corkers 4-H Club; and Miss Harriman is adviser for the Morral-Grand Prairie Farmerettes.

Guernsey Sire Bought

John P. Courtright and James O. Coogle, the latter near Edison, have just purchased the registered Guernsey bull, Wey Acres Concentrate's Larry, according to the American Guernsey Cattle Club. Sired by Wey Acres Levity Concentrate, the bull was purchased from a West Salem, O., breeder.

New Weed Spray Is Now Available

A new chemical is now available for controlling poison ivy and horse nettles in orchards, according to C. W. Ellenwood of Wooster's Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

The chemical is called amino triazole, comes as a dry wettable powder and is used at the rate of four pounds to 100 gallons of water, or three tablespoons per gallon. Plants should be fully covered by the spray, Mr. Ellenwood emphasizes.

Tests indicate that the chemical is a relatively slow acting agent. Approximately two weeks after application, chlorophyll production in the plant ceases, causing the plant to turn white. A complete kill of poison ivy, horse nettle and even Canada thistles can be accomplished if the solution has been applied according to specifications, the researcher declares.

Amino triazole is still somewhat high in price, but is recommended primarily for spot spraying, Mr. Ellenwood points out. The chemical's residue is easily cleaned from a sprayer, he adds.

Area Holsteins Finish Herd Production Marks

Several area Holstein cows recently completed production records, according to the herd improvement registry of the Ohio Holstein-Friesian Association.

Franlew Fanny Imperial Gold, a registered cow owned by Lewis Gottfried Jr., of near Upper Sandusky, produced 17,782 pounds of milk and 591 pounds of butterfat over a 325-day milking schedule. A four-year-old, she was milked twice a day.

Patricia Pasture Lane Pontiac, four-year-old cow owned by James A. Jones & Daughters of near Forest, pailed 13,662 pounds of milk and 560 pounds of butterfat over a 299-day period.

Finally, B Mar Sovereign Pabst gave 18,344 pounds of milk and 609 pounds of butterfat on a 365-day schedule. Sovereign was a six-year-old at record's end and was milked twice daily.

Officials Wait Developments For Coliseum

Local Board Attempts To Schedule Meeting For Study of Contract

There have been no additional developments with regard to the operation or management of Marion's Veterans Memorial Coliseum since the meeting March 7 of the county commissioners, members of the Coliseum Board, Agricultural Society and Marion County Prosecutor Robert O. Stout.

That was the word this morning from Mr. Stout, who as yet has received no report on a proposed meeting between representatives of the Agricultural Society and the Ohio Sports Service, Inc. In addition, the copy of the state audit of the Coliseum Board's books has still not been delivered from the state printing office in Columbus.

Mr. Stout said he would wait several more days for an answer to his letter requesting a meeting between Coliseum officials and spokesmen of the Buffalo, N. Y., sports service group befort taking any further steps to speed up progress.

The meeting was proposed at the March 7 session, with a view towards ascertaining exactly where the Collseum Board stands with its debt of some $70,000 owed the service group for ice machinery installed in the Coliseum.

The county prosecutor also indicated — he had not yet received word from the state attorney general's office regarding the legality or illegality of the Coliseum Board as it is presently set up. Mr. Stout pointed out during the earlier meeting that opinion on this point was divided. Pending an official opinion of the attorney general, the Coliseum's management is presently in the hands of the Agricultural Society.

DISCUSSING A SURVEY OF INTEREST in the formation of a branch school of Ohio State University here are 11 area school officials who met this morning with Robert S. Brown, superintendent of Marion city schools, designated locally by the university to conduct a survey of branch interest. Officials and the schools they represent are (left to right): D. T. Mills, Marion County; Paul L. Oaklief, Kenton; Frank M. Blackburn, Hardin County; G. R. Blose, Mount Gilead; H. W. Carr, Marysville; L. A. Gantz, Morrow County; E. R. Pickering, and D. L. Musselman, Galion; Harold V. Cope, Upper Sandusky; Robert Latta, Bucyrus, and William S. Ferguson, Crawford County. Mr. Brown stands in the background addressing the group.

Zhukov Says U.S. Can't Sit Out Next War

LONDON (AP) — Russia's defense minister says any major new war would leave no hiding place and that the United States would not "be able, as formerly, to sit it out over the ocean and avoid destructive and deadly blows."

Quoted by Moscow radio today, Marshal Georgi Zhukov warned that Russia would use atomic and hydrogen bombs as its "main striking force" if such a conflict broke out. He said such weapons increasingly will replace conventional armaments and declared it is a mistake to suppose they would not be used simply because they can "mutually destroy both sides."

"In organizing their military bases in Europe and other parts of the world and in supplying certain capitalist countries with atomic weapons," Zhukov said, "the American imperialists obviously calculate that in case of war in Europe or Asia they will be able, as formerly, to sit it out over the ocean and avoid destructive and deadly blows. Such calculations are only too naive...

"There is no place in the world where the aggressor could find shelter. The Soviet air force is able to strike shattering blows at any enemy no matter where he is or where he is hiding."

The broadcast said Zhukov's statement was made Friday at a Soviet army conference in Moscow.

were chopped through the roof to allow accumulated smoke to escape from the dwelling.

—:—

THE FIRST FLOOR in the area nearest the furnace where the fire started, was damaged the most inside the house, firemen, noted. Rafters in the attic were charred and the roof almost a complete loss.

Firemen traced the route of the blaze before leaving the scene and broke through partitions and floors to be sure every possibility of the blaze igniting again was checked.

The chief said that only one chair among the household goods was burned. Several pieces of furniture were carried out of the house by Mrs. Robertson and neighbors, however. Smoke damage to the interior was estimated at approximately $100.

plus commuting expenses.

Upon completion of the two-year program at the Marion branch, a student would be admitted as a fully-qualified junior in any college or university in Ohio.

According to preliminary plans set up by the university, fundamental courses to be offered would include pre - law, pre - medicine, pre - dental and education sequences. Other phases of study would be offered, too, as interest warranted, Mr. Brown said.

An intensive study of Marion as a site possibility for an O S U. branch has been in progress since the first of the year. Marion is one of 16 Central Ohio communities being considered as potential sites.

Definite action concerning the establishment of a branch or branches and their locations is expected to be taken at a meeting of the university board of trustees sometime in April, Mr. Brown added.

The local superintendent was named to conduct this survey recently by Kenneth Airsman, professor of education and guidance at the university, who heads the branch study.

Wilson Asked To Extend His Personnel Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va) called on Secretary of Defense Wilson today to expand and extend on a world-wide basis a proposed 12 per cent cut in Defense Department office workers in the Washington area.

Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) and Mansfield (D - Mont) joined Byrd in applauding Wilson's announcement Tuesday that he had told the Army, Navy and Air Force to eliminate 6,414 military and civilian jobs here in the year beginning July 1.

Wilson said he will order similar cuts in many defense headquarters—but not in combat units—at home and abroad. Byrd said this was "encouraging" but he urged Wilson to order across the board cuts at American installations all around the world.

"The federal government's annual civilian payroll runs about 10 billion dollars and roughly half of it is for the Defense Department," Byrd said.

a federal grand Tuesday on conspiracy and bribery charges.

While Brewster sweated and squirmed, evidence was brought out Tuesday that Teamsters Union dues money went to pay for his racing expenses, clothes and Christmas gifts he spread around during the yule season.

A committee accountant, Carmine Bellino, testified that Brewster doubled up on expense accounts to collect $990 from the national union and $1,214 89 from the Western Conference on the same hotel and meals items in 1954.

Brewster maintained what he charged the national union and the conference were separate items.

Couldn't Remember

He had an explanation for some of the spending Other items, he said, he couldn't remember.

Union-paid boxes at race tracks, he said, helped the union because employers with whom the union bargained enjoyed the boxes too. The same was true, he said, about union-paid box seats at baseball parks.

Ditto with Christmas gift certificates drawn on Seattle men's furnishings stores. Brewster said he "might" have spent them on himself on occasion, but as he recalled it, he cashed the certificates for gifts for friends of the union. One such gift certificate for about $150, he said, went "as a bonus" for his daughter, employed by the Teamsters.

Similarly, he said, a union-paid membership at the Thunderbird Country Club at the lush Palm Springs, Calif., resort was only to accommodate employers who might be around.

about $20 a pledge. This would provide more than enough money for the pool if only about 52 per cent of the 17,000 pledge cards sent out to county residents were returned with an average of $20 a pledge.

The fund raising committee has suggested that each person receiving one of the pledge cards, pledge the amount earned in 10 working hours. For a person earning $2 an hour the total pledge should be $20.

Serenaders Give Program for 600

Members of the Marion Serenaders, local voice ensemble made up of 30 men, presented their 10th annual spring concert Tuesday night in the auditorium at Harding High School auditorium.

An audience or approximately 600 music patrons heard a varied and entertaining program of chorus numbers, instrumental solo, vocal solos and an instrumental ensemble selection, and showed their appreciation by bringing the performers back for several encores.

Directing the chorus was L. G. Jones, who has wielded the baton since the singers were organized 10 years ago, and accompanist was Harold Denzer Jr, pianist. Guest vocalist was Mrs. Virginia Griffiths, and club soloists were Robert Somerlot and Robert Miley. Mr. Denzer was heard in a piano solo.

For their encore number the Serenaders sang "Auralee," and closed with the popular "Oklahoma." Mrs. Griffiths responded with "I Could Have Danced All Night." Mr. Miley's encore number was "The Open Road," and Mr. Somerlot sang "Danny Boy." The instrumental trio composed of Dave Jenkins, Robert Somerlot and Ralph Wick, chose for an encore "Music, Music, Music." They were accompanied by Mr. Denzer.

Bronx Schoolboy, 10, Runs His TV Quiz Winnings to $80,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Robert Strom, 10, Bronx schoolboy, easily answered three scientific questions Tuesday night to run his TV quiz winnings up to $80,000 toward a possible $256,000.

The fifth-grader won $16,000 to add to the $64,000 he won last week on CBS-TV's "$64,000 Question."

He will return next week to try to boost the $16,000 to $32,000, and, if successful, will qualify to try the following week for his second $64,000.

A contestant can advance through four $64,000 rounds without losing any $64,000 block he has won along the way.

The boy first was asked to explain the difference in creating electricity by the Piezo - electric and thermionic emission methods.

He said the Piezo-electric method was by distortion of crystals and that, in the second method, the heating of a cathode in a vacuum tube accounted for the electric flow.

To a second question, he reeled off carbon, oxygen, hydrogen, nitrogen, iron, iodine, magnesium, sodium, phosphorus and potassium as 10 of the many elements in the human body.

The boy peered through a telescope to answer the third question. He was given the hour angle and declination settings on the instrument. Then he correctly named the autumnal equinox as the space in the sky he was looking at.

Family Service Group Hears Discussion of Alcohol Problem

That alcoholism is the symptom of a disease, a disease which we are only beginning to learn how to treat, was the conclusion reached by the more than 60 persons who attended the spring meeting of the Family Service Society Tuesday night at the YMCA.

Following the showing of the film "Alcoholism," which depicted the life of an alcoholic and the way used to help him control his drinking, a panel discussed the problem.

Take Part in Study

Panel members included Rev. Harrison L Ludwig, moderator; Rev. W. Lincoln Stafford, pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church; Dr. W. H. Whitehead, local physician, a representative of Alcoholics Anonymous, and Miss Bernadette Clark, psychiatric caseworker of the Family Service Society.

Rev. Stafford pointed out that A.A. has the best record for curing the disease and that the Salvation Army and Rescue Missions are performing a valuable service.

It was noted by Dr. Whitehead that the resources for treating alcoholism are limited in Ohio and he called attention to a resolution recently adopted by the American Medical Association that all hospitals should admit and be equipped to treat both the acute and chronic excessive drinker.

The A.A. representative credited the success of the movement to the understanding which exists between the alcoholic who cannot control his drinking and the helping person, who has learned through his own bitter experiences, to control his drinking

The important role that the unbalanced emotional structure of an individual plays in leading him to alcohol was brought out by Miss Clark.

Offers Parents Advice

She stressed the important part parents have in rearing their children to bring understanding into the family relationship.

Counseling was stressed as a first step toward recognizing the need for help in combatting alcoholism. Many persons who seek help from the Family Service Society are referred to the A.A., Miss Clark indicated

In the United States 2,000,000 are alcoholics. It was noted that in Marion County the A.A. has a membership of 125 with the known alcoholics totaling 750.

A new membership plan was outlined during the business meeting by Mrs. Ashley Booth who presided and Mrs. Smith Witter, membership committee chairman.

Identification cards will be distributed to members who will be charged $1 a year. This money will be spent to make the organization a more cohesive one and keep members better informed about the work of the agency.

Symphony Group Releases Schedule

Three major American orchestras and a visiting ensemble from Italy have been scheduled by the Symphony Club of Central Ohio in Columbus to be heard during the 1957-58 concert season, it was announced today.

The season will open Oct. 18 with the appearance of the Orchestra of the Florence Festival, making its first American tour, under conductorship of Carlo Zecchi and Franco Ferrara.

The Cleveland Orchestra under the direction of George Szell will stage a return engagement on Nov. 15. Rudolf Firkusny, renowed Hungarian-American pianist, will be the soloist with the orchestra.

On March 4, 1958, Fritz Reiner will conduct the Chicago Symphony as the third concert of the series. The fourth and final concert of the season will be the Philadelphia Orchestra under the baton of Eugene Ormandy, April 28.

All four performances will be held at the Veterans' Memorial in Columbus at 8:30 p. m. Season subscriptions for the four may be ordered through Heaton's Music Store in Columbus.

3 Testify at Trial

CINCINNATI (AP)—Three Hamilton, Ohio, men say Denver Powell, 46, accused of taking part in the robbery - murder of John Schreck, was in Hamilton on the day Schreck was killed in his Cincinnati delicatessen.

The three—Nathan Taylor, Bill Waltner and Purl Lunsford—were defense witnesses Tuesday in the seventh day of Powell's retrial in the Nov. 27, 1949 holdup-slaying.

3 Killed, 11 Are Injured By Blast in New Jersey

LINDEN, N. J. (AP)—An explosion in a vitamin laboratory killed three men and injured 11 others early today at the Merck and Co. pharmaceutical plant.

The men were working in the first floor of a three-story brick building when flammable solvents apparently ignited, a company spokesman said. Fire broke out briefly.

The dead were identified as: Walter Green, of Rahway; Ed Cerzrowski, and Edward L. Mnisch, of Linden.

Another operator, Leo Bitsch, was seriously injured.

Ten other workers were treated for minor injuries.

Marion Area Auto Mishaps

One person was injured in one of four traffic accidents investigated Tuesday and early today by Marion police. No accidents were reported in Marion County.

Hurt when his car was struck from the rear at E. Center St. and State St. at 3:15 p m. was C. E. Lewis, 29, of 284 Oak St. The other car was driven by G. W. Cochran, 20, of near Galion. Mr. Lewis suffered a minor neck injury and was taken to Marion General Hospital where he was treated and released.

A collision at Jefferson St. and Wilson Ave. at 4:49 p.m. involved cars driven by K. E. Manning, 20, of near Edison and E. W. Jones, 62, of 547 N. Greenwood St.

A one-car accident in the 500 block on S. Prospect St at 3:32 a m. today occurred when the car driven by E. M. Buckley, 37, of Massillon ran out of control into a utility pole. He told police he fell asleep at the wheel

The only other accident in the city involved a truck being driven backwards by Kendrick Stewart, 27, of 183 N Main St which struck a car parked in front of his residence and owned by Lawrence Cocherl of 215 Homer St. at 2:22 p m.

3 Permits Issued To Businesses by Marion Township

Three zoning permits have been issued by Marion Township Zoning Inspector W. A. Ranck, he announced today. Mr. Ranck also announced that an appeal had been filed from one permit issued earlier.

The appeal was filed by Corrine Ensminger who protested the issuance of a permit to Willard Johnson to construct a repair garage and salvage yard on the north side of County Road 162 just west of Routes 4 and 23 north of Marion. The appeal board will meet April 1 to take up the matter. The meeting will be held in the office of the Marion Township trustees.

A permit was issued to C R. Campbell to build a farm supply store on the Pole Lane Road approximately 330 feet north of Route 30-S east of Marion Mr. Ranck said Mr. Campbell planned to build one large building and two smaller ones in the area

A permit also was issued to the Dutt Implement Co. to build a store just north of the Campbell buildings on Pole Lane Rd.

The third permit issued was to the Overhead Door Corp. of Ohio to build a new door factory on E. Fairground St. at Madison Ave. The shop would be located on the south side of E. Fairground St. Walter Moore, attorney for the group which has its main office in Hartford City, Ind., said this morning that the firm had not decided definitely to build the factory here but had secured the permit to protect itself.

Blast Is Fatal to 4 In Tacoma, Wash.

TACOMA, Wash (AP)—Four men packing a dynamite mixture into cardboard tubes were killed Tuesday when an explosion wiped out a small assembly line building at the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. powder works at Frederickson, 10 miles southeast of Tacoma.

The explosion rattled windows 18 miles away. The 22 by 24-foot building practically disappeared.

The dead were listed as Buddy Coon, Robert D. Schultz, Richard Nelson and James Capps, all residents of the Tacoma area.

"Nobody knows what happened," said Ed Sorger, head of the state industrial safety division "There's nothing left but a big hole in the ground."

Britain Accepts Offer

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced today she is ready to accept an offer of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) to conciliate in the Cyprus dispute.

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd told the House of Commons the NATO offer is to conciliate among Britain, Greece and Turkey, all members of the 15-nation alliance.

Pressure Felt in House

Budget Slashes Revive Talk of Income Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prospect of budget cuts today revived talk in Congress of income tax reduction.

Influential House leaders took notice of it by stating privately that reduction of government spending by as much as three or four billion dollars might start a stampede for general tax relief.

But the strong possibility remained that even if the budget is cut substantially, tax cuts would be delayed until next year when Congress members could learn the actual size of a surplus, rather than an estimate of it.

$1.7 Billion Surplus

President Eisenhower's budget estimates show an anticipated surplus of $1,700,000,000 for this fiscal year ending June 30, and $1,800,000,000 for fiscal 1958.

If the President's 1958 spending budget of $71,800,000,000 is cut by three billion dollars, as some Appropriations Committee members say can be done, the government would start its new business year next July 1 with a prospective surplus of nearly five billion dollars.

Some leaders feel that such a situation might make it impossible to head off demands for general tax relief.

Reduction 'Out'

Thus far, Capitol Hill has been in general agreement with the Eisenhower administration that tax reduction is "out" because of its inflationary aspects at a time when curbs are being placed on credit expansion. The administration has contended also that any surplus should go toward reducing the national debt.

Rep. Mills (D-Ark), influential member of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee who frequently reflects the attitude of House leaders, said.

"If we can create three or four billion dollars of surplus through reduction of expenditures, I would want the American taxpayer to enjoy a part of that reduction."

Rep. McCarthy (D-Minn), also a member of the committee, said in response to a reporter's questions that in the event of a large surplus Congress might have to cut taxes "for the sake of the economy."

Rep. Reed of New York, the senior Republican on the Ways and Means Committee, told a reporter that he didn't expect the House to vote tax reduction until 1958, an election year.

Britain Faces Fresh Strikes, Liner Delayed

LONDON (AP)—Spreading strikes today forced a 24-hour delay in the sailing of the liner Queen Mary for New York and threatened to involve a nationwide walkout by railwaymen.

The government struggled to avert a progressive walkout by 2½ million engineering workers which would tie up 40 per cent of the nation's export industry. Shipyards have been idle since Saturday as the result of a strike by 250,000 men.

A walkout by the 370,000-member National Union of Railwaymen (NUR) seemed virtually certain as the result of a government tribunal's award of only a 3 per cent wage increase. The NUR executive, which is demanding a 10 per cent increase, rejected the award, calling it an "insult." But the union leaders deferred further action pending a conference with the tribunal chairman, Sir Brian Robertson.

ization of the waterway.

The memorandum ignored, but did not directly reject, a proposal that half the tolls be paid to an independent group such as the World Bank pending settlement of the claims.

Humphrey, a member of the U.S delegation to the United Nations, said this country "should give thoughtful and friendly consideration" to the proposal in the hope that it might become the first step to a general settlement of Middle East problems.

But he added that "we could be much more confident of any Egyptian agreement relating to the canal if Egypt would be more cooperative with U.N. resolutions concerning the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba"

Sen. Morse (D-Ore) told the Senate in discussing the Middle East situation Tuesday he thinks Dulles is guilty of "growing malfeasance in office" and "we ought to get rid of him."

Elevator Cable Snaps, 5 Are Killed in Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A cable snapped, and a construction elevator carrying 19 workmen plunged five floors to the ground Tuesday. Five of the men were killed and the rest injured.

"It sounded like an explosion when it hit — then there were screams," said Bob Barsh, an insulation superintendent at the new Duval County courthouse the men were helping to build.

Hoffa's Role

By Victor Riesel

James R. Hoffa has the courage to tolerate his friends' convictions—penal as well as philosophical. It is legendary that he has never deserted any of his legions. It is, therefore, natural to expect that he would develop a passionate curiosity over what there is in the Senate battle plans—for these include a frontal assault on all the areas Hoffa commands and in which he has placed some mighty subalterns.

VICTOR RIESEL

The Senate, for example, was being led directly by its new David, Robert Kennedy, against the mighty juke-box empire.

This was to lead from Hoffa's friends in New York to Detroit. There you would find an intimate by the name of William Bufalino, a man with an incendiary sense of humor.

ONCE WHEN this column reported Bufalino's activity in the juke-box field—which was not too differently patterned from the pin-ball tales of Portland—he wrote me a long letter of protest.

After several single-spaced pages, the Detroit sport wound up with this postscript:

"For your information I also suffer from migraine headaches, probably caused by the 'halo' that I wear—it's a little tight."

Gay enough? But not so cavalier in the congressional report on this Detroit teamsters' leader, at that time head of juke-box Local 985.

This report is part of the record on which the Senate racket busting committee is operating today. And it says in part:

"The sub-committee had received numerous complaints. . . showing conclusively that there existed a gigantic, wicked conspiracy to, through the use of force, threats of force and economic pressure, extort and collect millions of dollars not only from unorganized workers but from members of unions who are in good standing, from independent businessmen and, on occasion, from the federal government itself.

"THE TEAMSTERS Union Local 985, through its president, William E. Bufalino, is the principal offender and perpetrator of the racketeering, extortion and gangsterism which was disclosed by the hearings. The union attempted and to some extent succeeded in obtaining a monopoly in the 'juke-box' business.

"Bufalino and the executive board of Local 985 conspired and confederated to obtain this monopoly and used the union, not to advance the interest of labor nor to protect labor in genuine labor disputes but to advance the interests of a favored few juke-box owners and operators at the expense of other owners and union members."

There was also a fellow called Eugene James, who was president of Local 985 before Bufalino. When Bill Bufalino took over, James told friends, "Well, boys, I'm going to shove off. I've got a better job in Chicago with the Laundry Workers Union."

Before James made good in Chicago he had been characteristically helped by Jimmy Hoofa. When James needed it, Hoffa had gotten him a union charter.

BUT BROTHER JAMES had no money to start it rolling—it's like any other business, you know. So Hoffa lent James personal money to get going in Detroit. James paid it back.

From then on it was an easy jump into the big time in Chicago. To give him a boost, the Detroit teamsters kept James on the payroll for six months to make sure he didn't run out of dough.

Brother James became secretary-treasurer of the International Laundry Workers—a post he has recently departed. Sen. Paul Douglas hastened that departure with a Senate probe last year which revealed that almost a million dollars was "embezzled" from the Laundry Workers' welfare fund of which James was a trustee.

So it went in many cities—and Bob Kennedy has reported that the Senate probers have almost 1,000 complaints from "Every major city in the country."

-:-

MANY OF THESE involve men who got their union posts with Hoffa's help, some senators say.

It would be only fair to say here that many men prominent in public, industrial and labor circles swear by Hoffa and say he has never gone back on his promise.

But neither has he gone back on such of his avowed companions as Johnny Dio, accused of many crimes including the one thing that must be of moral indignity to Hoffa—running scab shops.

Apparently these bonds of friendship are so strong that neither time, crime, nor acid can burn through them.

Toy Gun Queen

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

Ruth Handler will make more money with guns this year than Jesse James did in his whole life. Mrs. Handler, top woman executive in the nation's 1½ billion dollar toy industry says the top toys of 1957 will be guns, guns, and still more guns.

HAL BOYLE

The result: More toy guns (up to 13 million) will probably be sold by next Christmas than dolls.

"Little girls love guns, too," said Mrs. Handler. "They get upset if told they can't have them. They even steal them from their little brothers."

—:—

MRS. HANDLER, a onetime secretary, and her husband, Elliot, a former artist, are known as "The Whiz Kids" of the toy trade.

In 1944 they were earning a bare living making plastic jewelry. Then they started turning out plastic toy furniture, and grossed $100,000 the first year.

Elliot turned out to have a natural genius for creating novel toys that caught the fancy of children. Ruth showed a remarkable talent for solving production problems and marketing the toys. This year their firm, Mattel, Inc., which has up to 1,000 employes in peak season at its Los Angeles plant, will do a business of nearly 10 million.

"We started on a shoestring," said Ruth, a dark-haired, vivacious woman who has two children herself. "But it takes more than a shoestring to keep going."

—:—

"YOU HAVE to keep a step ahead of the rest, and be able to sense trends in advance. My husband has a sixth sense in this respect. He's a great idea man.

"Research is of great importance. Designing a good toy requires, in my opinion, a better quality of engineering than that required to do national defense work. And I think I know. We've done some defense work."

Their biggest new items this year are a thunderburp gun, which enables a small fry to fire a burst of 50 caps, and the "Fanner Fifty," a toy pistol which a child can fire by hand-fanning, just as the old-time western gunmen did.

New Bill Would Hold Parents Liable for Child's Delinquency

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Parents of an often-delinquent child could be charged with contempt of court under a bill recommended for Senate approval by its Code Revision Committee.

The bill provides that parents of a delinquent child placed on probation by the court may be required to post a $500 bond. The bond could be ordered forfeited or used to pay for any damages caused by the child's vandalism.

The proposed law would work this way: If, at a child's delinquency hearing, it appears the parents have failed to exercise "reasonable parental control," the court can order the parents to subject the child to such control in the future. Any later delinquent act by the child would present a case that the parents have violated the court's order. This would open the parents to a contempt citation.

The court then would have the right to require the parents to post bond up to $500 to guarantee the child's future good behavior.

Pleads Guilty

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Raymond L. White, 33, halted his trial in criminal court Tuesday to plead guilty to two robbery charges in the $9,000 holdup of a dairy here.

White was accused of holding Mrs. Lorene Dallman as hostage Feb. 3 while a confederate forced her husband, Harold, manager of the dairy, to open his office safe. Judge Fred B. Cramer sentenced White to two indeterminate terms in Ohio Penitentiary.

Frank Sumpter of Covington, Ky., also charged with robbery in the dairy holdup, is slated to appear before the grand jury here today.

Funds for Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 15 million dollars could go to Ohio under a vast water projects construction bill passed Tuesday by the Senate Public Works Committee.

Ohio projects named in the proposal include:

Navigation: Ohio River at Gallipolis, $66,000; Toledo Harbor, $859,000.

Flood control: West branch, Mahoning River, $14,000,000.

Theater Guide

Ohio — Dan Dailey, Ginger Rogers, David Niven, Barbara Rush and Tony Randall in "Oh, Men! Oh, Women!" at 6:35 and 9:30, and Leif Larsen and other members of a wartime organization as themselves in "Suicide Mission" at 8:25 only.

Palace — Kirk Douglas, Anthony Quinn, James Donald, Pamela Brown and Everett Sloane in "Lust for Life" at 6:55 and 9:15.

State — Phil Carey and Pier Angeli in "Port Afrique" and Walter Reed and Margaret Lindsey in "Emergency Hospital," open at 1 p.m.

Oppose Trusteeship

CINCINNATI (AP) — Members of Teamsters Local 114 have agreed unanimously to seek an end to the local's trusteeship under James R. Hoffa of Detroit, international vice president of the union.

About 150 members Tuesday night voted to "go through channels" in the move, which means petitioning union president Dave Beck to dissolve the trusteeship

Credit Buying Called Unruly By FRB Study

Speculators See Little Need for Installment Controls at Present

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speculation sharpened today on whether President Eisenhower will ask Congress for standby powers to regulate consumer installment credit.

The odds seemed to be against it, for interest has been lukewarm lately. But it was spotlighted by the issuance Tuesday of a massive study prepared at Eisenhower's request by the staff of the Federal Reserve Board.

The researchers found that easy-payment buying of autos and consumer goods tends to be unruly. "The major influence," they said, "has been to add fuel to booms; it has less often been an aggravating factor during recessions."

Stronger Than in '29

The FRB staff found that the credit structure, though carrying a record 31½ billion dollars of installment debt, is less likely than in 1929 to collapse during a recession into defaults, foreclosures and repossessions. It nevertheless cautioned:

"The possibility of an episode of drastic and spiraling liquidation should not be dismissed."

The report is neutral on standby controls; it presents various conflicting views in its five volumes and 1,619 pages. The reserve board itself has taken no position though it presumably would administer any controls voted, as it does the margin buying of stock on the exchanges.

Asked for 'Consideration'

Eisenhower asked Congress 14 months ago to "consider" standby controls. That was just after the 1955 auto credit binge, when total installment debt outstanding soared by 5½ billion dollars.

The rate of rise abated last year without damage, and the issue has taken a back seat. Businessmen who have visited Eisenhower recently said he shows far less concern. Neither has any strong movement for controls developed in Congress.

The FRB study showed that 45 per cent of American families owe some installment debt.

Three times as many families with incomes over $10,000 now use installment credit as did so in 1952, the report found, even though 88 per cent of these debtors had liquid assets of $500 or more and presumably could have paid cash in many cases.

Some families evidently use installment credit as a form of saving, it was indicated; they save their liquid assets and buy goods on installments. The report added:

"It has become respectable to be a debtor, and the desire to own a home 'free and clear' is no longer as strong as it was in the past."

Second 'Pitch' Made

4-Year Terms for State Representatives Sought

By ART PARKS

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—At least one Ohio House member wants to make a second "pitch" to Ohio voters in behalf of four-year terms for state representatives. But chances of his proposal ever reaching the ballot appeared slim today.

Rep. George A. Meinhart (R-Meigs) proposed a constitutional amendment Tuesday to give House members four-year instead of two-year terms.

Speaker Roger Cloud (R-Logan) said Meinhart did not discuss the amendment with him before he offered it. And Cloud commented:

"I am inclined to doubt that House members would approve it. It appears to be pretty well established that the voters want House members to be quite responsive to the will of the people and that the voters want House members to stand for election every two years."

Previous Attempts Defeated

Ohio voters in 1954 defeated a constitutional amendment which would have given four-year terms to members of both the Senate and House in the General Assembly. In 1956, however, voters approved an amendment which gave longer terms to Senate members only. Four-year Senate terms start after the 1958 election.

Meinhart's resolution proposing the constitutional change would need three-fifths approval of both houses of the Legislature before going on the ballot. A simple majority of Ohio electors voting on the issue is needed to approve a constitutional amendment.

The House Agriculture Committee Tuesday heard a plea for increased state "take" from wagers on running and harness races in Ohio, to help county fairs be "something more than street carnivals."

Speaks for Commissioners

The plea was voiced by George W. Taylor, secretary of the County Commissioners Assn. of Ohio. It came in connection with a bill that would set up an "Ohio fairs fund" of about $614,000 for distribution to the 91 county and independent fairs in Ohio. Sums would range from $2,500 to $7,500 a year.

The fund would be raised by an additional state withholding from money bet at commercial tracks. Under the bill, the state withholding from running track bets would jump from 13½ to 15 per cent.

From the state fund so raised, each county and independent fair would get at least $2,500. The 69 fairs now conducting harness racing meets would get $2,500 more, plus another $500 to cover costs of tests on horses and to maintain tracks. At least 50 per cent of the fairs would get another $2,000 for colt stakes for trotters and pacers owned and bred in Ohio.

Taylor told the committee that through the bill "we are trying to provide something more than a street carnival at county fairs."

Says Incentive Low

And former Sen. C. I. Powell of Springfield said that although Ohio has more harness horses than any other state and has more money invested in them, the owners must take their horses to other states where race conditions and purses are better. He added:

"I wonder how county fairs can keep their gates open. A number have closed their gates and more will unless they get some help. County fairs are the show windows of agriculture and it will be a sorry day when they close."

In other actions Tuesday:

The Senate passed unanimously a bill to permit temporary certification of teachers in private and parochial schools. The certificates would be good for one year only and would be valid only for the district requesting them. The bill now goes to the House.

The House passed and sent to the Senate a bill to extend from 5 to 15 days the time required for notice to creditors of bulk sales.

The Senate's State Government Committee recommended adoption of a House-approved resolution to create a six-member committee to study possible state purchase of the late Louis Bromfield's home—Malabar Farm in Richland County — as a state experiment farm.

Patrolmen at Delaware Investigate One Crash

DELAWARE — Two cars collided on Route 257, about 12 miles southwest of Delaware near the east end of the O'Shaughnessy Dam at 6:40 a.m. today in the single accident investigated by Delaware post patrolmen.

The mishap occurred when a northbound auto driven by George Humphrey, 62, of Columbus, attempted to make a left turn in front of a southbound vehicle driven by Robert Sampson, 23, of Ostrander.

Patrolmen said the Humphrey car struck the side of the Sampson auto, doing moderate damage to both vehicles. No injuries were sustained. Humphrey was cited to appear in Delaware Municipal Court, March 30, on a charge of failure to yield the right of way.

Song Written By Local Man Is Selling Well

Still climbing toward fame in the recording world is Joseph W. Tanner, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Tanner of 355 Fies Ave., whose latest release, "Only One Love" has been rated 27th among popular songs throughout the nation by Billboard magazine.

Joseph Tanner

The record was released by ABC-Paramount only one month ago. The words, music and the arrangement of the number all were done by Tanner, who also plays the guitar in the selection and provides background vocal with the Blue Notes, a quartet which he formed in England during his war service. George Hamilton IV is the vocalist.

Other recent releases written by Tanner include "A Rose and a Baby Ruth," featuring Hamilton with Tanner providing the guitar background. This number has reached a million record sales.

Recordings which Tanner has arranged and which include his guitar accompaniment are "In the Balcony," "A-Plus in Love," both Colonial recordings, and "Hospitality Blues." The first two feature The Blue Notes.

The young musician's latest work is "Crazy Love" which will be released in the near future. He was written words, music and arrangement for this. It will feature a female vocalist with Tanner on the guitar, appearing on the Colonial or ABC-Paramount label.

This record already has been praised by such music notables as Kay Kaiser. First recorded last year, it has been scheduled for release four times, but each time Tanner was dissatisfied with it.

Now a sophomore at Duke University in Durham, N.C., where he is majoring in music, Tanner played with the Harding orchestra until his graduation in 1950 and was a member of the Buggy Boys heard over WMRN and of the Lazy Ranch Boys who broadcast a show over WRFD and WJR.

Rehearing Refused

CINCINNATI (AP) — The U. S. Court of Appeals has refused to rehear the appeal of Jack C. Massengale, Cincinnati attorney and private detective, on his conviction of two counts of wiretapping.

Blaze Breaks Out At Truck Wreck

A trailer - tractor combination was damaged extensively early Tuesday morning when the outfit jackknifed and caught fire after swerving off Route 42, five miles north of Mount Gilead, local patrolmen reported.

The Mount Gilead Fire Department was called to the scene to extinguish the blaze which broke out in the tractor and spread to the trailer, the accident report indicated.

The northbound outfit driven by Bert Halpin, 29, of Brockway, Pa. was forced off the road by an unidentified southbound auto which rounded a curve in the road left of center, patrolmen said.

Swerving out of control the truck careened to the right into a ditch and crashed into a tree, causing the tractor to jackknife, investigating officials pointed out. As the outfit whipped around, the trailer snapped loose, the report went on.

The driver escaped with only lacerations of the right leg and a bruised right shoulder. He reportedly was not treated.

Patrolmen said the tractor was almost completely destroyed by fire while the trailer received considerable damage. A few of the barrels of liquid cheese being transported in the trailer also were burned, it was indicated. The outfit and load was owned by Brown Bros. of Currensville.

ARMAMENT PROGRAM

PETERSBURG, Va. (AP) — The City Council is turning to the local post of the American Legion to see what can be done about rearming The Doughboy. The gun in the hand of the World War I monument's figure has been twisted and the bayonet broken off.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

Another One About Hollywood

"The Last Tycoon," as it was left unfinished by the dying F. Scott Fitzgerald, was a first draft of singularly compelling power. It had all the advantages of a first draft, which are many, and all the disadvantages, which are also many. It was highly original, this story of a movie magnate who greatly resembles the late Irving Thalberg, who was immensely perceptive about an industry that is mostly represented by caricature and, even in outline, it had an air of importance about it.

JOHN CROSBY

However, there is still an air of unreality about it, too. Some of the plotting and even some of the characterization had a tentative and strongly experimental tinge to them, as if Mr. Fitzgerald was just trying them out for size and would strengthen or eliminate later.

As done on "Playhouse 90" with Jack Palance in the leading role, all these virtues and all these defects were carefully preserved in a TV adaptation by Don Mankiewicz. Right from the outset, at a preview of a picture, much of the frantic tension of the picture business is established with speed and authority.

NOW AS TO THE PLOT. As I recall the book, there was quite an elaborate development of the idea that Monroe Stahr was an authentic genius who was gradually being hemmed in and circumscribed by bankers and other constricting appurtenances of the 20th century, which were gradually changing the picture business.

In the TV version, this idea was greatly simplified. Mr. Palance was shown under the surveillance of an icy-eyed money man (Keenan Wynn). Presumably his job was at stake if he failed to impress, but since the character played by Mr. Palance already realized he was dying, this is a matter of small importance.

The philosophical implications were omitted or simplified. Both Mr. Wynn and Mr. Palance believe in making money. But Mr. Wynn believes in saving money; Mr. Palance in spending it to make it. The one is an exponent of cost accounting; the other of native genius.

Palance, who has already turned in one whooping performance as a punch-drunk heavyweight in "Requiem for a Heavyweight," turned in another powerful but, I'm afraid, sketchy performance as Monroe Stahr. His Monroe Stahr was, God knows, intense enough, but he seemed to be a man of one expression and one mood. Mr. Fitzgerald's last tycoon was, I should imagine, a far more complex character than this.

THERE ARE A COUPLE of live stories in the script, both a little strange and remarkably innocent ones for Hollywood. In one, Stahr falls in love with a woman mostly because she reminds him of his dead wife.

In another a young girl who is the narrator of the book, and the daughter of a Hollywood producer, is in love with the tycoon. Neither love affair ever amounts to much or goes anywhere and I can't believe Fitzgerald would have let things go that way, if he had finished the book.

Still, sketchy, unfinished and experimental as it was, "The Last Tycoon" was quite a TV drama, strange, haunting and memorable. There was a perfectly wonderful scene at the beginning in which Monroe Stahr tries to teach a British author how to write for movies, copes with and masters a Brando-like movie star, rescues an old-time movie director from suicide and fends off Keenan Wynn — all more or less in one breath.

Show business has certainly come in for its share of attention this year. There have been "The Comedian," "Man on a Tiger," and even a husband and wife domestic comedy series, "Mr. Adam and Eve," about movie stars. But this is the most distinguished and civilized effort of this sort of far.

Grandson of First OWU Head Will Be Honored

DELAWARE — A grandson of the first president of Ohio Wesleyan University will be honored here with the doctor of science degree Monday, March 25.

The degree will be conferred on Dr. James E. M. Thomson, orthopedic surgeon of Lincoln, Neb., when he speaks at the University's Founder's Day assembly at 11 a.m. in Gray Chapel.

Dr. Thomson's grandfather, the Rev. Edward Thomson, served as Ohio Wesleyan's president from 1842 to 1860.

Dr. Thomson has been an orthopedic surgeon in Nebraska since 1916.

Coxey's Son Dies

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Jacob S. Coxey Jr., 65, who retired in 1954 as president and board chairman of the Industrial Silica Corp. here, died Tuesday night in Hollywood, Fla., where he had been living the last two years. Death was caused by a cerebral hemorrhage.

He was the son of the late Gen. Jacob H. Coxey, who led a march on Washington in 1894 in support of his campaign for economic reforms. Coxey, one of the founders of industrial silica, was in business in Massillon, Ohio, and Chicago before coming to Youngstown in 1929.

Personnel Group Backs Teacher in Paddling 3 Pupils

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Personnel Committee of the nearby Chartiers Valley Joint School District upheld a teacher who paddled three 7th and 8th grade boys recently.

The teacher, Robert F. Koby, had been accused of paddling one lad so severely he required medical treatment. The School Board previously paid $5 for a doctor's fee.

Koby said he paddled the boys because of their rowdy conduct on school buses. After a closed meeting Thursday night, the Personnel Committee issued this statement:

The discipline administered in this particular instance was, in the opinion of this committee, within the authority granted the teacher by law and by policy of the School Board.

Ohio's Crime Cost Set at $12 Million for 2 Years

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House Finance Committee was told Tuesday night that a current crime wave will boost Ohio's penal population to 12,000 and cost the state 12 million dollars to administer its Division of Correction during the next two years.

That testimony was given by Maury Koblentz, chief of the division, who appeared in behalf of budgetary requests of his division.

In its budgetary request, the division had requested $12,356,431, which was pared to only $10,506,318 by the state finance director.

Abundance Here To Stay, Benson Tells Californians

FRESNO, Calif. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson told a press conference Tuesday it is futile to try to hold down production.

Emphasis should be on research for new markets and new products, he said. Our problem is to learn to live with abundance.

He advocated sale of farm products in any amounts available to communist countries provided deals favorable to the United States are offered. He said the prohibition against dealing with Red China and Russia should be eliminated.

Appeal Denied

CINCINNATI (AP)—Richard Taylor of San Diego has lost his bid to have a guilty plea he made to a 1951 armed robbery charge set aside. Common Pleas Judge Fred Bader Tuesday sentenced Taylor to 1-25 years in the penitentiary on the old charge, involving an $82 shoe store robbery.

Taylor contended he used a toy pistol in the robbery. But testimony by the store manager, Thomas Geary, indicated the weapon was a real pistol.

Seek To End Strike

BARBERTON, Ohio (AP)—United Rubber Workers Local 58 called a meeting today in an attempt to settle an unauthorized strike that has halted production at the Sun Rubber Co., manufacturer of toys. Three hundred employes walked out Tuesday in a dispute over the application of piece-work rates.

Labor Pacts Call For Bagels, Beer And Birthday Pay

NEW YORK (AP)—Bagels, beer and birthday pay are now provided some workers in New York state under unusual contract clauses.

The special provisions are discussed in this month's issue of the State Labor Department magazine Industrial Bulletin.

A Teamsters local has an agreement with New York City bagel manufacturers that permits all employes to take home two dozen free bagels at the end of each working day.

Another Teamster contract with a brewery allows workers unlimited free consumption of beer during specified periods of the day.

A Painters Union local has an agreement with Staten Island contractors giving an employe his birthday off with pay and a present of a $5 bill.

Dr. Homer L. Hitt, head of the Institute of Population Research, predicts a U.S. population of 19 million persons 65 years of age and over by 1970.

Siegfried, Lucas Win Berths on All-Ohio Quintet

Middletown Scoring Star Leads Statewide Balloting

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's brightest high school basketball stars, headed by repeater Jerry Lucas of Middletown, today were named to the 1957 Associated Press All-Ohio Class AA team.

Lucas, the scintillating 6 foot 9 junior who has never played in a losing game in 50 starts for the defending state champions, was an almost unanimous choice. The state's sports writers, broadcasters, coaches and officials made the selections.

No player in the history of the annual ratings has been everyone's All-Ohio to the extent the Butler County record - breaker dominated this year's voting.

Siegfried Top Scorer

Lucas scored 651 points in the 18 pre-tourney games on which the selections were based, an average of 36, although he played only two or three complete contests. Larry Siegfried of Shelby had a 38-point average over the same route to take the scoring laurels, but he played practically every minute.

Siegfried, 6 foot 4 senior, moved into the All-Ohio lineup at guard alongside Dave Zeller, 6 foot 1 senior. Zeller averaged 24 points in carrying New Carlisle Tecumseh to a terrific season.

Jim Mathews of Canton McKinley, who averaged 22, and Mount Vernon's 6 foot 4 Richie Hoyt, who had a 30 point per game mark grabbed the forward spots. Hoyt missed four games because of a 15-stitch cut on his shooting hand, but came back strong to lead the central district tourney in scoring.

Lucas is the only one of the top quintet who will show his wares in the state tournament this weekend. Middletown bids for its seventh Ohio title.

But Bunk Adams of Toledo Macomber and Larry Trunk of Cleveland Cathedral Latin, second All-Ohio team choices, will be on hand.

Honorable Mention

Also due to perform in St. John Arena are Jay Byrd of Middletown, the star playmaker for the champs; Charley Boykin of Kent Roosevelt, and Ray Zadwadski of Cathedral Latin, all honorable mention winners.

The All-Ohio squad of 79 was picked from the more than 7,000 players on 349 Class AA squads. The five first-placers were 1,400-to-1 shots. Even the honorable mentions were 100-to-1.

Sheer individual ability, not team records, furnished the basis for the selection. Some high scorers finished down the list because they lacked defensive or other abilities, and some with not-too-high averages won high spots because of their all-around talents.

Lucas, who set a half - dozen state tournament records last year, is the only repeater. The modest young giant is being hailed as the greatest high school cager in the state's history and possibly the year's best scholastic star in the country.

Although the selectons were made on pre-tournament performances, announcement of the All-Ohio was delayed until state tournament week at the request of the

Bob Middleton Named

Bob Middleton, Harding High School sophomore, today was awarded an honorable mention rating with the United Press All-Ohio team. The selections were made by the state's coaches. The 6-3, 195-pound Middleton held his own all season against more experienced cagers and in addition to his defensive work and rebounding finished with a 10-point scoring average. He is the first sophomore from Harding ever to finish in the all-star balloting.

Video Fans To See Amateur Fighters

CHICAGO (AP) — Golden Gloves boxing teams of New York and Chicago, each boasting exceptionally fine talent, will aim their haymakers at each other tonight in the colorful intercity bouts at Chicago Stadium.

The scheduled three-round bouts in each of the eight weight divisions will be nationally televised and broadcast (ABC, 10 p.m. EST). Perhaps, the national audience will be able to see all eight intercity winners crowned in the hour-long show. The time element depends on the number of bout-shortening knockouts registered.

Wildlife Week Projects Staged by Meeker Club

County Group Working To Solve Problems Of Conservation

This is National Wildlife Week throughout the nation and many an organization is undertaking to do something about the protection of the country's wildlife and the many other outdoor scenic resources.

One of the prominent groups performing currently in Marion County is the Meeker Sportsmen's Club, whose members are engaged in acquainting residents in the communities of Meeker, Morral, LaRue, New Bloomington and Green Camp with the problems of dwindling wildlife and natural resources.

THE ORGANIZATION, of which Delbert Rush is president, and Richard Herr, secretary, is spending approximately $550 this year on this dual program. The money is the club's share of hunting and fishing license fees sold to sportsmen each year. The state provides that vendors of these licenses retain 25 cents as the total fee for selling the licenses, a portion of which is used in the pursuit of conservation practices by the club.

Of this $550 amount, $250 will be used to enlarge and improve the wildlife area around Meeker Lake, a 40-acre tract of land planted with several species of trees, multiflora rose and other cover shrubs and bushes.

The balance of the money is being spent on a joint education-safety program, designed to inform the people of the plight of the nation's wildlife and scenic resources, as well as to urge safety with regard to unguarded fires, unnecessary pollution of streams and lakes and similar hazards to these resources.

Conservation magazines and an album on Ohio wildlife species are being distributed to each of the schools in this area, and members of the club are aiding in the building of bird houses, duck boxes for nesting and similar wildlife protection devices.

NATIONAL WILDLIFE Week is designated by the national wildlife association as a "time for taking inventory of our progress in learning to live in balance with our natural resources — our soils, forests, waters and wildlife, whether in our own backyards, city parks, great state and federal parks and forests, or the fields that we enjoy seeing on a Sunday drive." It is the only way, association spokesmen point out, that we can be sure that wildlife and outdoor scenic resources do not become virtually extinct.

The national organization announced, "There are about 25 million hunters and fishermen in the country, approximately 70 million users of the parks and forests, and many millions who enjoy simply looking at our great outdoors. It is up to each and every one of us to protect those elements which make so many activities possible."

The theme for this year's wildlife week is "Homes for Wildlife" and every sporting group in Ohio, as the Meeker club, urges every individual to take a personal interest in the priceless resources that once destroyed can never be recovered.

WILDLIFE WEEK NOTED. The emphasis this week is on conservation of both our wildlife and other scenic resources as National Wildlife Week is observed across the nation.

UPPER: Delbert Rush (left), president of the Meeker Sportsman's Club, and Norman Roettger, superintendent of the Green Camp School, look at a copy of a wildlife album that is being presented the schools in the area by the Meeker club. The table is covered with a variety of magazines and pamphlets on all phases of wildlife conservation.

Plea Issued for Former Harding Cage Players

J. D. Torrance today issued a plea to captains of former basketball teams at Harding High School to make arrangements to attend the Harding cage banquet next Tuesday night.

He is chairman of a committee attempting to line up as many former Harding cagers as possible. Torrance asked any captain still living in Marion to contact as many of the members of their their teams as possible. The cagers will be seated at a special table during the banquet and will be given special recognition.

The chairman asked any captain to telephone him at 2-5603 or Leroy Everly at 2-8850.

23 Homers Belted

Power Hitters Opening Up In Major League Training

By The Associated Press

Home run sluggers are beginning to find the range on the exhibition circuit. So far, the National Leaguers are far ahead of the Americans.

In eight games Tuesday, there were 23 homers and most of them broke up the old ball game.

Ten clubs have played 10 exhibitions and six have completed 11. A total of 161 homers have been hit—99 by National and 62 by American League teams.

Phils, Giants Lead

The New York Giants and Philadelphia Phillies have each clouted 17 homers, while the Chicago White Sox lead the Americans with a dozen.

Dick Stuart, the Pittsburgh rookie who belted 66 homers with Lincoln of the Western League last year; Jim Lemon, Washington; and Hank Aaron, Milwaukee, each have hit five exhibition blasts.

Stuart got two home runs Tuesday as the Pirates defeated the White Sox 9-3. He fanned the other three times at bat.

Rookie Neil Chrisley hit a two-run homer in the ninth to provide Washington's 6-4 victory over Cincinnati. Clint Courtney's two-run homer had tied the score for Washington in the seventh. Gus Bell, Bob Henrich and George Crowe homered for the Redlegs.

Kansas City defeated Brooklyn 6-5 when Johnny Groth rapped the ball over the fence in the 10th inning in another duel of homers. Gus Zernial hit another for the A's, while Don Zimmer, Duke Snider and Gino Cimolo got one apiece for the Brooks.

Jim Piersall hit the first Boston homer of the spring, but it was a grand-slammer in the third inning and helped the Red Sox to a 7-6 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Smack Three

The Phillies hit three homers and the Tigers two as Philadelphia took a 6-5 decision in 11 innings from Detroit. Joe Lonnett, reserve catcher, led off the 11th with a homer, and the Phils added another run on three singles. Earlier two Phil rookies, Harry Anderson and Fred Van Dusen, homered, while Harvey Kuenn and Charlie Maxwell each hit one for Detroit.

Bob Lennon, up for another trial with the Giants this season, clubbed a three-run homer in the fourth inning and the New Yorkers came from behind to defeat the Chicago Cubs 9-4. Rookie Bob Schmidt also homered for the Giants.

Home runs put the Yankees back in the game against the Milwaukee Braves, and Gil McDougald's clutch double in the ninth scored two runs to give New York a 6-5 decision. Mickey Mantle and rookie Woody Held each homered with a Yankee on base in the fifth and sixth innings.

The Baltimore Orioles downed the Cleveland Indians 8-4 after rallying for five runs in the eighth inning. Brooks Robinson of Baltimore hit a homer and triple.

Three Golfers Share Lead in Seminole Play

PALM BEACH, Fla., (AP) —Sam Snead, Lloyd Mangrum and Bud Holscher led the way into the second and final round of the Seminole Pro-Am Golf Tournament today.

They posted three under par 69s over the 6,746-yard Seminole golf club course Tuesday. Ben Hogan, playing in his first tournament of the winter, had a 73.

Hogan teamed with singer Bing Crosby for a best ball score of 66 but were far behind the leaders, who carded 61s in that division.

They included Holscher and his partner, Shaw Walker of Muskegon, Mich., and Gardner Dickinson of Panama City, Fla., and William G. Curran of Detroit.

Jimmy Demaret of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., was fourth among the pro scorers with 70.

Tigers' Boss Threatening Shakeup; Deal Is Sought

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—"There's an explosion coming on this club," said new Manager Jack Tighe of the Detroit Tigers. "There are some guys who have been on this ball club a long time, guys who are getting a lot of money and aren't earning it."

Tighe, the usually easygoing "nice guy" who was picked to replace Bucky Harris and put some "fire" into the Tigers, lit the fuse after Detroit, favored to give the New York Yankees trouble if anyone can this season, has dropped their eighth decision in 10 exhibition games, Tuesday.

And on the heels of Tighe's appraisal, John McHale, director of Tiger player personnel and the man who makes the trades, announced after a conference with Hank Greenberg, Cleveland general manager, that "we have some players who could help the Indians, and they have some who could help us."

Tighe, the 43-year-old ex-Detroit coach who never has managed in the majors before, refused to name names when he indicated some of his players have been dogging it this spring. He wasn't as general when questioned about a possible trade with the Indians.

"We need pitching," said Tighe. "The Indians want a catcher."

What it comes down to is this:

The Tigers, with Frank Lary, Billy Hoeft and Paul Foytack forming their "Big Three," need a No. 4 pitcher, preferably a left-hander. They have their eyes on the Indians' Hank Aguirre and Buddy Daley, a pair of promising young southpaws.

To get either of the two — and Daley is the favorite — the Tigers would give up catcher Frank House and "a triple-A player" for the Indians' San Diego club — if Cleveland tosses in another pitcher, say Mike Garcia or Art Houtteman, and shortstop George Strickland.

Houtteman, a 29-year-old right-hander who was 2-2 last season, would be preferred over Garcia, 33, an 11-12 pitcher in 1956.

Jake LaMotta Faces Jail on Morals Charge

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Jake LaMotta, former middleweight boxing champion, faces six months in jail after his conviction on two charges of violating Florida's prostitution laws.

A six-man court of crimes jury deliberate 2½ hours Tuesday night before convicting the 34-year-old former boxer on two counts and acquitting him on two others.

LaMotta, now a Miami Beach bar operator, stood silent while Judge George E. Schulz pronounced the maximum sentence of six months in county jail at hard labor and a fine of $500.

The jury convicted LaMotta of operating a place in which a 14-year-old girl made "dates" for prostitution and of "aiding and abetting" her activities. He was freed on charges of receiving the girl in his establishment and procuring customers for her.

LaMotta was released in $1,000 bond pending filing motions for a new trial and an appeal to Circuit Court.

Infield Spots Chief Trouble In Bosox Camp

By JOE REICHLER

SARASOTA, Fla , (AP) — An air of uncertainty surrounds the Boston Red Sox training camp

The Red Sox can finish anywhere from second to fifth without raising an eyebrow They have a fine hitting outfield, good catching and fair pitching but they also have what is probably the most porous infield in the league, they sadly need a lefthanded pitcher or two and two of the club's most dangerous hitters — Ted Williams and Mickey Vernon—are nearing 39 The Red Sox finished fourth—13 games behind last year

First of a Series

Higgins' Third Year

Mike Higgins, starting his third year at the helm after one happy and one disappointing season, is neither optimistic nor pessimistic as he discussed the Red Sox' pennant chances

"Our chief problem," Mike conceded, "is the infield, of course The loss of Don Buddin to the service has hurt us a lot"

If Higgins had to open the season tomorrow, he probably would have Dick Gernert at first base, Gene Mauch, the retreaded 31-year-old former National Leaguer at second Billy Klaus at shortstop and Ted Lepcio at third That would mean that Vernon and Billy Goodman would be warming the bench or at best, share the regular first and second base posts

In Williams (345) Jack Jensen (315) and Jimmy Piersall (293), Higgins owns the best hitting outfield in the league The trio slugged 58 homers and drove in 266 runs The catching with Sam White (245) Pete Daley (267) and rookie Haywood Sullivan up from San Francisco (296), presents no problem

Pitching Staff Ready

'Our pitching figures to be better," said Higgins 'I thought it would be real good last year but I was disappointed Frank Sullivan (14-9) had only a fair season Willard Nixon (9 8) had a sore shoulder Mel Parnell (7-6) injured his leg and Bob Porterfield (3 12) had a terrible time

"Dave Sisler (9 8) had a good first season and should be better I look for Tom Brewer (19 9) to develop into a top flight star this year I really think we've got enough pitching for a fine staff That's the one place we've just got to improve"

Lakers Defeat Pistons, Move Into Playoffs

FORT WAYNE, Ind , (AP) — A stolen rebound sent the Minneapolis Lakers to St Louis today for the National Basketball Assn western division final playoff and ended professional basketball in Fort Wayne

The Lakers beat the Fort Wayne Pistons Tuesday night 110 108 to sweep their best of three series in two games The Lakers will meet the St Louis Hawks for the division title in the best of five series playing at St Louis Thursday night and Sunday afternoon at Minneapolis Monday and Wednesday nights and back at St Louis if necessary March 28

The Piston franchise will move to Detroit next season The final game at Fort Wayne drew a slim crowd of 2 211

Spartan Cage Crew Seeking Upset in NCAA

EAST LANSING Mich (AP) — "Someone's going to snap that winning streak It might just as well be us'

Forddy Anderson confident young coach of the Michigan State basketball team was talking He was speaking about the meeting Friday night in the NCAA semifinals with North Carolina top rated team in the nation with its 30 game win streak

'No one needs to tell us what a great team Frank McGuire has he said The record speaks for itself But we think we're as good as the next team in this final showdown"

Anderson is an oddity in the coaching fraternity in that he's an incurable optimist

He needed to be, the way things were going for his basketball Spartans early this season At one point State lost four straight games, three of them in Western Conference play and two by one point each

Anderson was muttering about taking a canoe out on the Red Cedar River that flows through the Michigan State campus and kicking a hole in the bottom

To add to his troubles guard Jack Quiggle State's leading scorer broke training rules and was left behind on a road trip as punishment

Then Michigan State started its rocket climb from the cellar to the top of the standings in rugged Western Conference play It won 19 straight climaxing the streak by beating Indiana to share the Big Ten title with the always potent Hoosiers

The whirlwind finish gave MSU a 10 4 conference record and a 14 8 regular season mark

Cincinnati University basketball star Wayne Stevens holds his school's record in the broad jump 22 feet

Bob Rush Expecting To Win 20 for Bruins

MESA Ariz (AP) —Every spring there's a prediction in the Chicago Cub camp that righthander Bob Rush will win 20 games and every season Rush fails

This year being no exception Rush himself predicts he'll reach the coveted mark Rush thinks he'll reach the magic circle because he's changed his eye glasses and 'This year I'll be able to see the catcher's signals for the first time in years

Rush who suffers from astigmatism won 17 games in 1952 his best season and four other years he finished with 13 victories

The 31 year-old who is 6 feet 5 finished with a 13-10 mark last year

Rookie Hurler Clinches Spot With Cards' Staff

ST PETERSBURG Fla , (AP) — Rookie pitcher Tom Cheney, with a brilliant five-strikeout performance in two innings against the Boston Red Sox apparently has won a place for himself on the St Louis Cardinal roster

Cheney is expected to be drawing big league pay checks when the season opens April 16 unless he is called for military service, Red Bird officials indicated

The Red Birds lost to Boston 7-6 despite Cheney's performance Tuesday

Pierce Still Not Ready, Whipped by Pittsburgh

TAMPA Fla (AP) —Billy Pierce Chicago White Sox pitching ace, is still far off the form which saw him win 20 games last year

The usually brilliant lefthander was ineffective Tuesday for the second time this spring The Pittsburgh Pirates belted him for five hits and three runs in three innings and went on to beat the Sox 9 3

Pierce struck out only one man walked one and gave up a two run homer to rookie slugger Dick Stuart in the first inning

Rookie Henrich Joins Redleg Power Brigade

ORLANDO Fla (AP) — Bonus rookie Bob Henrich has already picked up a knack with the trade mark of the Cincinnati Redlegs—the home run

The quick young infielder from Lawrence Kan joined two colleagues smacking four base hits in Tuesday's exhibition game with Washington's Senators but the Reds still lost the game, 6 4

Video Network Signs 2-Year Fight Contract

NEW YORK (AP) — The International Boxing Club declared a monopoly in the promotion of world championship fights has concluded deals to continue the broadcasting and telecasting of non-title bouts on Wednesday and Friday nights for the next two years

The IBC and the American Broadcasting Company signed a two year multimillion dollar contract Tuesday for the continuation of the Wednesday night shows A similar deal between the IBC and the National Broadcasting Company was announced on Feb 27

Under the new IBC-ABC pact the network and producer Lester Maltz are permitted to negotiate for championship fights with any promoter who may have the radio TV rights to sell for such fights

This protects the ABC and producer Maltz in the event the courts limit or ban the IBC from promoting title fights

Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan ruled on March 8 that the IBC had monopolized world championship fights and shut out competitors from promoting them in violation of the Sherman Anti Trust Law Judge Ryan directed both the government which brought the civil anti trust action against the boxing club and the IBC to propose decrees within 3 days on how the IBC could operate

Bagel Beagle With Big Kosher Appetite To Star With Sinatra

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A little unkosher dog with a big kosher appetite—only days removed from execution in a dog pound—today is co-starred in a movie with Frank Sinatra, Kim Novak and Rita Hayworth.

It's Hollywood's greatest Cinderella story since Marilyn Monroe and the most unique talent search since Scarlet O'Hara.

Snuffy, a Cairn terrier, ate himself into a $500-a-week contract to co-star with the famous trio in the upcoming movie version of "Pal Joey."

The script calls for a dog to play Sinatra's pet and eat the same type of kosher food that he does.

Sinatra, director George Sidney and producer Fred Kohlmar were judges at a canine audition Tuesday night at Nate 'N' Al's Elite Kosher Delicatessen in Beverly Hills.

Nine dogs made the finals of the audition, which stems from an Associated Press story of a few weeks ago. Soon after the story appeared, more than 5,000 letters, plus hundreds of phone calls from distant places deluged Columbia Pictures.

A Beverly Hills dog merely sniffed at the auditon plate of lox, cream and cheese and bagels.

A huge St. Bernard, complete with brandy keg around its neck, was one entrant. Sinatra shook his head.

"We can have no dogs bigger than the star."

Finally, came little Snuffy, with his little ears and big eyes. He devoured the bagels and lox like the Russians were in nearby Pomona.

Bert Morse, a chief inspector for the Los Angeles city dog pound, is Snuffy's owner. He said he had read of the search for a bagel beagle and decided to enter Snuffy. The dog, already nine days in the pound, would have been put to sleep the next day.

Now he is a movie star with a cast that even Rin Tin Tin or Lassie never rated.

As flash bulbs popped from a small army of photographers Snuffy was crowned with a giant sized bagel — a sort of albino doughnut.

It was Hollywood at its publicity best.

Expecting Child

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor and producer Mike Todd expect their first child in late November, her studio announced. They were married last Feb. 2 in Acapulco, Mexico.

Ohio Wesleyan U. Controller Named

DELAWARE — The appointment of Robert W. Meyer, associate professor of economics and business administration and auditor of student accounts, to the newly created position of controller of Ohio Wesleyan University was announced today by Arthur S. Flemming, president.

Prof. Meyer's appointment will be effective July 1. He has been a member of the faculty here since 1948. Besides having served in the U. S. Navy during World War II, he had been a high school teacher and a public accountant before he came to Ohio Wesleyan.

In his new position, he will be responsible to the treasurer and business manager of the university. He will assist the treasurer in building budgets and enforcing them during the year.

He also will be responsible for the breakdown of the annual budgets into monthly cash and accrued estimates, the preparation of the monthly results and the furnishing of pertinent information to the operating heads.

Wilberforce Gets Loan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $470,000 loan to Central State College, Wilberforce, Ohio, was announced Tuesday by the Community Facilities Administration. The money will finance construction of additions to two dormitories, to house 103 men students and a proctor.

HOW NAVY HOPES TO GET WEATHER DATA. The Navy hopes to make use of an anti-aircraft missile, found to be too small for its intended use, to collect weather data from altitudes as great as 20 miles. This diagram, based on one released Monday by the Navy, shows how the missile can be fired from deck of a ship with the aid of a rocket and when it reaches peak altitude splits open to release instruments to measure temperature and humidity in the rarefied upper air. Developed as the Loki rocket, the device is now called the HASP, nickname for the high altitude sounding projectile.

Candidates in City Meet GOP Women

Five candidates for positions on City Council were guests at the meeting of the Marion County Republican Women's Club Tuesday noon in the community rooms of the West Town Branch of the National City Bank.

Mrs. J. P. Eichhorn presented the following candidates: John Corwin and William H. Goodwin, candidates for council for the Fifth Ward; Emmett Osterholt, candidate for council for the Sixth Ward, and Richard Lister and Kenneth Potter, candidates for councilmen-at-large.

Mrs. Eichhorn, second vice president, opened the business meeting with a prayer. Mrs. Lester Stewart reported on the organization of the LaRue Women's Republican Club of which Mrs. J. E. Fox is president. Meetings of the group will be held the third Monday of the month.

Members were urged to renew their memberships by the April meeting.

Luncheon was served to 32 members and guests. Serving as luncheon chairman was Mrs. Lester Stewart who was assisted by Mrs. Eichhorn, Mrs. Wheelon Long, Mrs. N. D. James and Mrs. Helena Young.

The banjo was invented in the mid-19th Century in Banjoemas, Java, and received its name from the first two syllables of that village.

Plans Being Completed By Red Cross for Tour

Twenty volunteer workers of the local Red Cross chapter as well as members of the staff and board of directors will be on hand to show local residents through the new chapter home on Mt. Vernon Ave. during the open house Friday through Sunday, Miss Lillian Plack, executive secretary, announced today.

Hours of the open house will be 7-10 p.m. Friday and 2-5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday afternoons. The 14-room house, formerly the Axe Funeral Home, is located at 297 Mt. Vernon Ave.

It was indicated that no personal invitations will be issued for persons to attend the open house. The general public is invited to take this opportunity to see their Red Cross chapter house in action, Miss Plack said.

Heavily-salted water is an economical method of deicing windshields.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved higher under the leadership of steels, coppers and aluminums early this afternoon. Rails lagged and utilities tilted slightly lower.

Trading was a little more active than it has been in the past few weeks.

Pivotal industrial stocks were generally ahead fractions to slightly more than a point.

A feeling the Middle East tension may have eased a hit helped the rise. Traders also noted a Federal Reserve Board forecast of continued growth in installment buying over the next decade.

In early dealings steels, oils and drugs showed a firm undertone. Later the aluminum group came in for a play on the ground these stocks may have been oversold in the steep slump from 1956-57 highs.

Zenith was up 1⅜ on reports the Federal Communications Commission may soon hand down a decision on pay-as-you-go television.

In the copper group Kennecott gained 1⅜. Anaconda advanced a major fraction.

Gains in the aluminum group were paced by Aluminium, Ltd., up two, while Kaiser forged ahead a point.

U. S. government bonds gained.

1-B—IN MEMORIAMS

IN MEMORY of Mrs. Goldie H. Kidd, who passed away ten years ago today.

Fallen asleep in Jesus!
How precious is that word!
Enjoying now forevermore
The presence of the Lord.

This is not death!
'Tis only sleep;
The Lord doth now
Thy loved one keep.

'Tis not goodbye beloved,
'Tis only just farewell.
A little while—a moment
We, too, with Christ shall dwell.

And so we dry the falling tear
Because we know the Lord is near

REX MORGAN, M.D. By Dal Curtis

WHAT WILL YOU DO WITH SYLVESTER LOCK, DR. MORGAN?
IT DEPENDS ON WHAT HIS DAUGHTER WILL LET ME DO, JUNE!
MARTHA FEELS IT'S HER DUTY TO CARE FOR HER FATHER--NO MATTER WHAT SHE SUFFERS AND WHAT IT DOES TO HER LIFE!
BUT IS SHE CAPABLE OF CARING FOR HIM --- CONSIDERING HOW HE HAS DETERIORATED MENTALLY?
I SUPPOSE SHE COULD -- BY DEVOTING EVERY MOMENT OF HER TIME TO HIM! BUT WHAT SHE FAILS TO RECOGNIZE IS THAT HE COULD BE CARED FOR BETTER --- AND HE WOULD BE HAPPIER IN THE HANDS OF PERSONS PROFESSIONALLY TRAINED TO CARE FOR HIM!

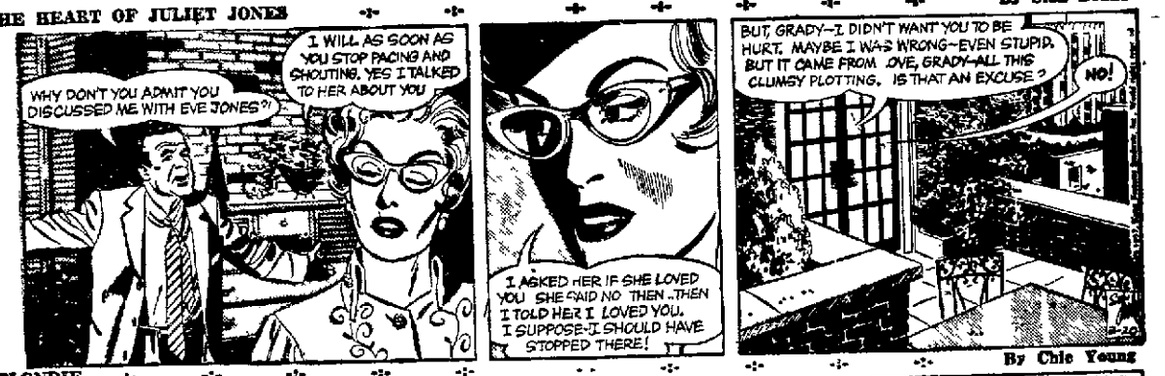
THE HEART OF JULIET JONES By Stan Drake



WHY DON'T YOU ADMIT YOU DISCUSSED ME WITH EVE JONES?
I WILL AS SOON AS YOU STOP PACING AND SHOUTING. YES I TALKED TO HER ABOUT YOU
I ASKED HER IF SHE LOVED YOU SHE SAID NO THEN ..THEN I TOLD HER I LOVED YOU. I SUPPOSE I SHOULD HAVE STOPPED THERE!
BUT, GRADY--I DIDN'T WANT YOU TO BE HURT. MAYBE I WAS WRONG--EVEN STUPID. BUT IT CAME FROM LOVE, GRADY--ALL THIS CLUMSY PLOTTING. IS THAT AN EXCUSE?
NO!

WELL YOU GAVE ME MY CHOICE, DIDN'T YOU?

DICK TRACY By Chester Gould

OH BOY--I GOT A TERRIFIC SHOT OF THEM FROM THE OTHER WINGS.
HOW DOES IT COMPARE WITH THE NEWSPAPER?
I'D BETTER CALL TRACY BY TELEPHONE I CAN'T RAISE HIM ON THIS--BUT FIRST, I'LL DROP BY THE THEATER AND TELL MY WIFE.
SEEMS TO ME THERE'S A LOT OF WHISPERING GOING ON AROUND HERE HAVE YOU NOTICED IT?
YEAH
CHESTER GOULD

RIP KIRBY By Alex Raymond

RIP'S LOOKING IN THE TRASH BASKET FOR THE ENVELOPE GLAD I BURNED THE SCRAPS AFTER CUTTING OUT LETTERS FOR MY "EXTORTION" NOTE GOT IT MR KIRBY?
YES HERE IT IS ROCKY.
GLAD WE WERE ABLE TO FIND THIS IT MAY TELL US A LOT ABOUT WHO SENT THAT THREATENING NOTE TO MISS ROYCE..

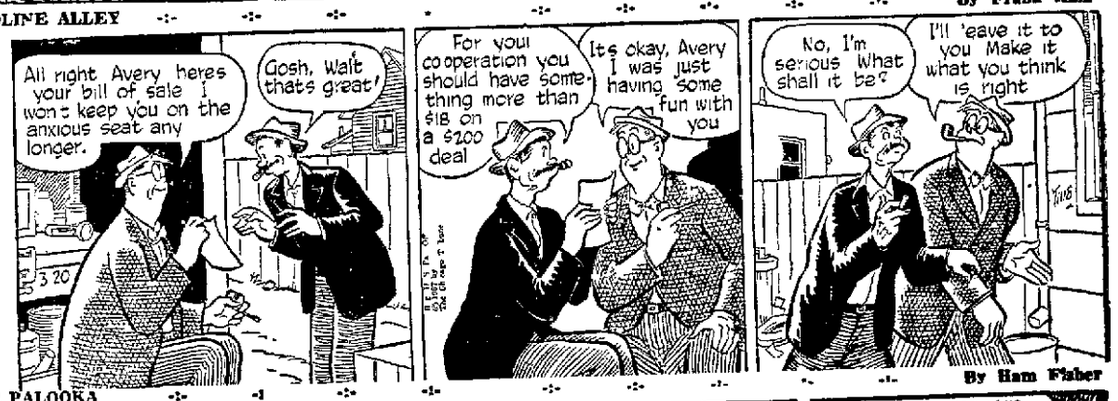
GASOLINE ALLEY By Frank King



All right Avery heres your bill of sale I won't keep you on the anxious seat any longer.
Gosh, wait thats great!
For your cooperation you should have something more than $18 on a $200 deal
Its okay, Avery I was just having some fun with you
No, I'm serious What shall it be?
I'll leave it to you Make it what you think is right

JOE PALOOKA By Ham Fisher

VINCE MOTTIN WAS SENT TO THE ROPES BY A STAGGERING UPPERCUT STEVE KEEPS PRESSING. BUT MOTTIN FORCES A CLINCH!
BREAK CLEAN, BOYS!
PHEW.
BONG!
WOW! THAT WAS ROUGH BUT I'LL GET HIM. WHEW!
YOU LISTEN TO ME VINCE YOU'RE GOIN HOME TH NEW CHAMP T NIGHT! YA GOT THIS FIGHT WON ON POINTS JUST STAY AWAY FROM HIM!
TH LAST ROUND'S COMIN' UP, STEVE. I'M SURE HE'LL BE 'RIDIN HIS BICYCLE"... YER ONLY CHANCE IS T'GO AFTER HIM AN' KNOCK HIM OUT...C-CAN YA D-DO IT, KID?
I H HOPE SO..
BONG!

TERRY AND THE PIRATES By George Wunder

SILENCE WOMAN! HATRED OF THE FOREIGNER HAS ALREADY DONE ENOUGH
NO, FATHER! YOU'VE LET THE YANKEE'S SHALLOW LOGIC CONFUSE YOU!
LISTEN TO ME FATHER! REMEMBER HOW WE FOUND CHIN TSI BY THE BENCH WITH THE FOREIGN CIGA'S CANDY SCATTERED ABOUT! LET THEM EXPLAIN AWAY THAT!
IS IT NOT OBVIOUS, MISS CHIN, THAT THE REAL KILLER MUST HAVE HATED THE AMERICAN VERY MUCH?

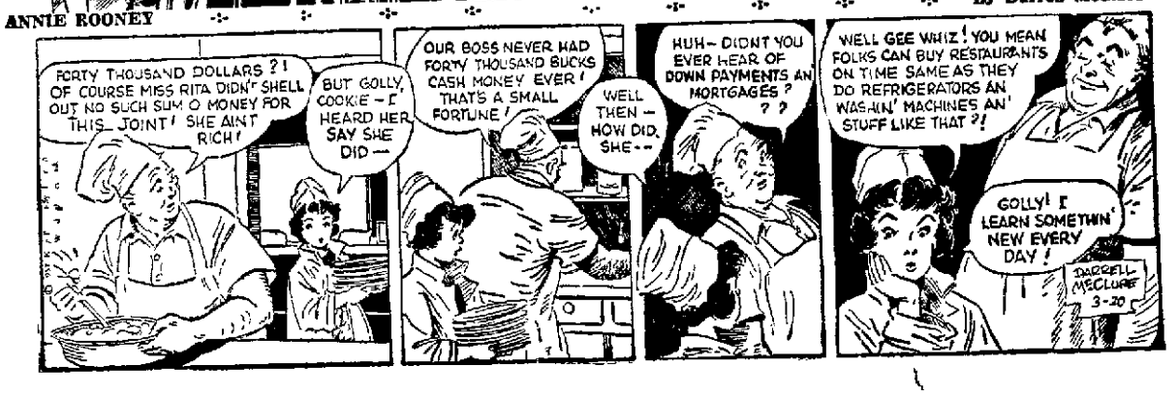
ANNIE ROONEY By Darrell McClure



FORTY THOUSAND DOLLARS?! OF COURSE MISS RITA DIDN'T SHELL OUT NO SUCH SUM O MONEY FOR THIS JOINT! SHE AIN'T RICH!
BUT GOLLY, COOKIE--I HEARD HER SAY SHE DID--
OUR BOSS NEVER HAD FORTY THOUSAND BUCKS CASH MONEY EVER! THAT'S A SMALL FORTUNE!
WELL THEN--HOW DID SHE--
HUH--DIDN'T YOU EVER HEAR OF DOWN PAYMENTS AN MORTGAGES??
WELL GEE WHIZ! YOU MEAN FOLKS CAN BUY RESTAURANTS ON TIME SAME AS THEY DO REFRIGERATORS AN WASHIN' MACHINES AN' STUFF LIKE THAT?!
GOLLY! I LEARN SOMETHIN' NEW EVERY DAY!
